'BILLBOARD ALLEY' ON ROUTE 28 NEAR STONY HOLLOW

End of the Billboards— Rolison, Bell Proposal Due

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The elimination of billboards in the Catskill Park area of Ulster County is proposed in the county's continuing beautification program.

A bill pre-filed jointly in the State Legislature by Sen. Jay P. Rolison, R-Ulster-Dutchess and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, R-Ulster would extend the protections of the Adirondack Park to the Catskill Park under the conservation law.

No Protection Now

Under the current law for Adirondack Park, billboards and other off-premise signs are prohibited in the park area unless a permit is received from the Conservation Department and the standards of the department are met. The Catskill Park currently has no such protection.

The bill is a result of a recent study of sign and billboard control undertaken by the County Planning Board.

Benjamin Webster, Planning Board chairman explained that the proposed amendment to the law would apply only within the "blue line" limits of the Catskill Park which extends into Sullivan and Delaware Counties. The main effect, Webster said, would be "to remove the blight of billboards from some of our most scenic highways including portions of Route 28, 212 and 375 in Ulster County. "Not affected would be signs within incorporated villages and signs located on the site of the business they are advertising.

The 'Blue Line'

The "blue line" of the park extends north and south, west of Route 209 and the Route 28 traffic circle and includes all lands along Route 28 to Fleischmanns. In Greene County the "blue line" also runs north and south and extends along Route 23A from its intersection with Route 32. On Route 212 the "blue line" crosses near the Woodstock Town line and includes all of Woodstock which already has a zoning ordinance banning billboards.

Under the Conservation Law, when effective, the owners of billboards, signs or other advertising devices will have 30 days to remove the sign after he has received notice from the Conservation Commissioner's Office. If it is not removed within 30 days, the commissioner will order it removed by an agent or department employe. If the owner obstructs the removal of his sign under these conditions he becomes liable to a fine of not more than $100 and additional fines not exceeding $25 for each additional day of such resistance.

Signs may be erected that meet the standards of the Conservation Department, and after a permit has been issued.

Special

The standards call for rustic or other design which will be attractive and suitable for its proposed location. There are also uniform colors permitted.

The billboard control study was initiated by the County Planning Board in conujnction with a referred resolution introduced in the County Legislature by Legislator William West, R-Woodstock.

If the amendment is approved sign owners must follow the same stipulations and regulations in the current law now affecting the Adirondack Park area.

The billboard and sign study by the County Planning Board was completed in November and the board's report filed with the County Legislature at the December meeting.

The Planning Board at that time noted that in view of existing federal, state and town highway sign regulations, the Planning Board does not recommend that Ulster County attempt to overlay a further set of such regulations on those already in effect.

In the December report the Planning Board suggested that the County Legislature ask local representatives in the State Legislature to seek an amendment to the conservation law in regard to billboards and signs in the Adirondack State Park to include the Catskill State Park area.

The report also noted that last year the state adopted enabling legislation in conjunction with the Federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Act Controls Some.

This act controls signs on interstate highways, the Thruway and primary highways, Route 9W, 28, 32 and parts of Routes 42, 52, 55, 208, 209, 212 and 299. The act refers to signs within 660 feet of the nearest edge of the right of way and specifies the size, lighting and spacing of signs within this 660 foot range.

Under the act signs or billboards lawfully in existence along these highway systems on Sept. 1, 1968 which are not permitted pursuant to the provisions in the law, may be maintainted until July 1, 1970.

At that time, or at the end of the fifth year after a sign or billboard becomes nonconforming, the State Commissioner of Transportation may acquire the necessary rights to the property and will pay compensation therefore in the same manner as other property purposes.

The impact on the county by this legislation and that proposed by the Rolison-Bell Bill is apparent and will affect about 1,990 miles of highways. Town roads in the county total 1 224 miles; county roads, 443 miles, State Thruway 41 miles and the remainder 282 miles are state highways.

The state law by 1970 will clear the 282 miles of state highways in the county of unsightly billboards and signs, and if approved the amendment to the Adironadck Park Sign Law to include Catskill Park would have its impact on the county's 1,224 miles of town roads and 443 miles of county road, much of which is in the state park.

The Adirondack Park Sign Law became effective in 1924 and covers an area approximately 5,693,500 acres of which the state owns about 2,244,800 acres.

More Executions, Israel Tells Thant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel told U.N. Secretary-General U Thant Monday another group of Jews is threatened with execution in Iraq. Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, Joel Barromi, conveyed the information, and Thant said he would look into the report immediately.

After the Iraqi government announced that nine Iraqi Jews and five other Iraqis were hanged Monday for spying for Israel, Iraqi Information Minister Abdullah El Samarrai told a news conference in Baghdad that 65 other persons would be brought to trial soon on charges of spying for Israel and plotting against the Iraqi government. Barromi in his warning to Thant possibly was referring to members of this group.

Denies Charge

Israel denied that those executed Monday were spying for her and said their only crime was being Jewish. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban in a statement to Thant said the Baghdad government "has perpetrated an act of barbarity which exceeds even what the world has come to expect from a country in which violence and murder have become almost commonplace."

Thant expressed fear that the executions would upset U.N. efforts to achieve peace in the Middle East. The Iraqi delegation to the United Nations at once complained that Thant was mixing in something that was "entirely an internal affair of Iraq."

The U.S. government and American Jewish leaders also condemned Iraq's action. Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the mass public executions wre "repugnant to the conscience of the world" and "a matter of deep concern" to the U.S. government. But Rogers noted that because the United States has no diplomatic representative in Baghad, he could not comment "on the facts surrounding the trials."

Former Ambassador and Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, the president of the American Jewish Committee, expressed "shock and outrage" and urged the United States and the United Nations to "join with us in condemning what has occurred."

Termed Barbaric

In London, an editorial in the Guardian labeled the executions "barbaric" and observed: "This medieval spectacle can only do harm to the prospects of a Middle Eastern settlement."

President Nixon, at his news conference in Washington Monday, proposed that missile reduction talks with the Soviet Union be linked to discussions of the Middle East crisis and other political issues

"What I want to do," he said, "is to see to it that we have strategic arms talks in a way and at a time that will promote, if possible, progress on outstanding political problems at the same time—for example, on the problem of the Mideast, and on other outstanding problems in which the United States and the Soviet Union, acting together, can serve the cause of peace."

Meanwhile United Press International reported that Britain is "basically sympathetic" to a French proposal for a Big Four meeting at the United Nations to try to bring peace to the Middle East, authoritative British sources said today.

Such a meeting would have to be in the U.N. and in agreement of Israel and the Arab nations and would have to be "a contribution" to the peace mission of U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring, the sources said in London.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said nearly the same thing today, quoting British envoy Goronwy Roberts as saying Britain "favors" such a conference of the Big Four.

A peace offensive involving the Big Four had slowed in recent days with rejection by each side of a Soviet peace proposal and Israel's insistence that there must be direct negotiations with the Arabs.

Mayone's Talk Adds to the Speculation

City Republican Chairman John R. Mayone addressed the Kingston Republican Club Monday night and gave rise to speculation that he might be stepping down as chairman and seeking the party's nomination for mayor.

Mayone's speech last night at Johnny's By-Pass Tavern on the East Chester Street By Pass was in sharp contrast to the one he made before the same club on Nov. 25, 1968, about three weeks after the Republicans, under his leadership lost 12 of 13 aldermanic seats to the Democrats in the Common Council.

At that time, amid rumors of his resignation, Mayone said, "I will fight any move to get me out as city chairman."

Time for Reflection

Last night Mayone said that he had "taken a vacation from politics" for the past seven weeks and that it had been a time "for a great deal of reflection."

Mayone said the Republican Club members "would be the first to know" his personal plans concerning the chairmanship and "possibly the mayoralty."

Mayone spoke of the "mayoralty sweepstakes" and said that candidates "would be declaring in two or three weeks. "I would be happy to see a dozen good candidates beating down my door" (for the mayoralty nomination), Mayone said. "It's a healthy sign of confidence in the party."

Mayone maintained that the Republican party" is in good shape" and that "good will is the key to a good year."

"We'll take our fair share of the Common Council this year," Mayone said. "True, we were outgunned in a few wards but we also lost a few we should have won."

The chairman said he also expected strong competition for the eight positions of county legislator. "Several people want to run for legislator besides the six who are currently in," Mayone said.

Saving the Criticisms

Mayone gave the indication last night that the party is saving its major criticisms of the Garraghan administration for the mayoralty campaign this fall. "I've been criticized for not attacking Garraghan's budget," Mayone said. "It's strictly a matter of timing. No one would listen to criticism now. All they're concerned about now is that $13.50 tax cut. It would have been useless to tell them that it could have been $20 or $25." We'll save that for campaign ammunition."

Mayone also spoke of two other major campaign issues. Garraghan's plans for a new city hall in Broadway East and what he termed "dignity in government."

Mayone also discussed the party's lack of money for campaigns. "With a healthy party our money problems will end."

Mayone was supported, on the subject of money for the party, by Richard Burns, Republican Club president, who called for "six major fund-raising events for 1969" so that the club "could make a significant contribution to the mayor and aldermen in their races for election this year."

Burns termed 1969 "a year of change for the Republican Club" but said the club would lend its support to other things besides politics. He spoke of activity in such fields as traffic safety, narcotics control and government education.

Burns said he expected Congressmen Hamilton Fish Jr. and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell to "drop in" at club meetings and give reports. "We're not going to limit our guest speakers to Republicans or politicians," Burns said. "Other citizens might have things of interest to tell us. Maybe even Mayor Garraghan might like to address this club."

Honor 1st President

The club honored its first president, John W. Buck in brief ceremonies. Buck's son, Michael, accepted the award for his father who was out of town on business.

Plans for a membership drive were formulated as a year-long project. The club currently has about 115 members. There are more than 4,000 enrolled Republicans in the city.

Strewn Wreckage at Thruway Death Scene

A 53-year-old importer Hans Gloystein of 11 Addison Avenue, Larchmont, was killed Monday when his late model sports car slammed into a bridge abutment on the State Thruway, four miles north of Saugerties. Trooper M. R. Stapleton inspects a section of the car which disintegrated on impact. A witness said the taillights of the death car indicated the driver did not apply brakes. Authorities said it is possible he may have suffered a heart seizure or fell asleep at the wheel. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Dems Pick Candidates For Legislature Posts

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The Freeman has learned that the Democratic City Committee has picked its eight candidates for county legislature and that those candidates include both city and county chairmen and the city treasurer.

The eight include incumbent legislators Orrie R. Riehl and William F. Edelmuth, Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, county chairman; Thomas R. Lyle, city chairman; Stan J. Petro Jr., city treasurer; James Carroll, former 10th Ward alderman; William Davis, city housing codes inspector and former 13th Ward alderman and Andrew Gilday, a member of the city Public Employ Relations Board.

Lyle told The Freeman that the nominations will not become official until the party caucus this spring but that the candidates have all contacted him and expressed a desire to run. Lyle said he expects to retain his city chairmanship regardless of the election results in November.

The eight will run at-large within the city against eight Republicans. The top eight vote-getters will be elected to two-year terms as county legislators.

Mones Led Ticket

Melvin Mones, a Republican, led the ticket in 1967, the last election, with 6,285 votes. Second was Edelmuth, a former mayor, with 6,030 votes. Riehl, a former city treasurer, finished seventh, overall, with 5,439 votes. Sam Perry, a Republican-Conservative, ran eighth with 5,426 votes.

Davis is a veteran of the political wars, having served for ten years in the Common Council, elected on the Liberal ticket with Democratic support. He chose not to run this year for the Council when his ward was joined with that of Edward Norton (D-11th Ward) under reapportionment.

Dr. Gorman was defeated by H. Clark Bell for the Assembly last year but carried the city by more than 800 votes.

Lyle has been an unsuccessful candidate for alderman in the old Second Ward but led the Democrats to an unprecedented 12-1 sweep of the Common Council last fall. He is in his second term as city clerk.

Lost by 70 Votes

Petro, beginning his second year as city treasurer, was a candidate for alderman in the old eighth ward against John Naccarato in 1967. He lost that election by about 70 votes.

James Carroll was elected alderman in the old 10th Ward several times and worked with Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow in her victory over Peter C. Fisher in the new Fourth Ward last year.

Gilday is a former Third Ward alderman (1942) and former president of the Kingston Consolidated Board of Education (1958-1963).

Teachers to Air Work Stoppage

Ulster County teachers will meet in New Paltz Feb. 3 to discuss a work stoppage proposal by the New York State Teachers Association in support of increasing state aid from $760 to $900 per pupil.

The meeting is set for 8 p. m. in the New Paltz Middle School and all Ulster County teachers are urged to attend.

A panel will present positions of the state teachers association including Kenneth Hasbrouck, president of the southeastern zone of the NYSTA; Ronald Dutcher, legislative chairman; Gadlin Bodner, a member of the board of directors, and consultants from the Albany office of the association. Douglas Snow, from Highland Central School, will chair the meeting.

A spokesman for the association gave the following statement to The Freeman:

"The urgent problem now facing our area schools is one of financing ever increasing costs. Governor Rockefeller has proposed a cut-back of 5 per cent in state aid. This will force local school districts to assume the increased costs. But local school taxes have been spiralling. Can further money be forthcoming from property taxes? The New York State Teachers Association at its annual meeting in Buffalo last November voiced an urgent request for the state to increase its share and lighten the home owners tax burden.

"The meeting on Feb. 3 will cover the issues involved in state aid and present specific action interested people may take to help our schools gain urgently needed money."

GOP Club Selects Savago, Mrs. Longendyke

Peter J. Savago and Adele Longendyke are the choice of Ulster County Young Republicans for Man and Woman of the Year.

This year, as in eight previous years, the club will honor two of the community's outstanding GOP citizens at a cocktail party and dinner dance March 1 at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Savago, recently reelected chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, is a former supervisor and majority leader. A resident of New Paltz he operates an insurance agancy there.

Mrs. Longendyke, wife of Monroe Longendyke of Woodstock is well known for her political and civic contributions. She worked for the GOP in several campaigns last year and was chairman of the annual Woodstock Library Fair, an outstanding money-raising event which attracts thousands.

Young Republican president Richard Cahill has announced the dance will begin at 9 p. m. in the Crystal Room with music provided by Johnny Knapp and his society orchestra.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets may be secured from Cahill or any member of the club.

Fish Gets Appointed To Judiciary Post

A seat on the powerful Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, has been won by the 28th District's Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr.

The former Millbrook attorney, who has worked for the appointment ever since his election in November, said he was delighted to get the appointment in view of the fact that freshmen congressmen are seldom named to such a committee.

The 27-man committee is considered one of the five most important committees in the House of Representatives.

Among legislative subjects dealt with by the committee are: judicial proceedings, civil and criminal, apportionment, local courts in the territories and possessions of the United States, protection of trade and commerce against unlawful restrictions and monopolies as well as a number of other related subjects.

Congressman Fish who earned his law degree at New York University Law School, has spent his adult life in the practice of law.

Seek Cause of Blaze At Catskill Theater

CATSKILL — Fire officials planned today to pump water from the cellar of the Community Theater on Main Street, the scene of a fire yesterday, in an effort to determine the cause of the blaze which heavily damaged the brick-faced building.

Water pumped into the structure by several pieces of apparatus, nearly filled the basement of the building.

When firemen arrived at the scene, they found dense black smoke spouting from the theater which had recently been renovated. It was some time before firefighters were able to enter the building using masks to locate the blaze, which reportedly originated in the area of the boiler room.

Considerable damage was done to parts of the interior of the theatre, and heavy smoke and water damage was reported throughout the structure which is in the heart of this Green County village business district.

During the height of the blaze, fire officials called in an aerial ladder from the City of Hudson to assist. The theatre has a seating capacity for about 1,000 people.

Firemen were at the scene until about 3 p. m.

Some smoke and water damage was reported to two adjacent stores, but firemen confined the flames to the theatre.

Seek Young Men For West Point And Annapolis

The opportunity for qualified young men to make application for appointment to West Point and Annapolis for consideration of the class that starts in the summer of 1969 was announced today by Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr.

"I have been informed the opportunity still exists for qualified young men from the 28th Congressional District to make application to West Point under a qualified alternative plan," Congressman Fish explained. "This opportunity comes under a qualified alternative category which allows officials at West Point to select for application to the academy any qualified nominee needed to fill the Class of 1973 which starts on July 1.

"Deadline for application to take these qualified alternative tests is May 1," Rep. Fish said. Congressman Fish also stated that he has learned that he may also make nominations for two midshipmen appointments to Annapolis.

The deadline for these applications to Annapolis is Feb. 15, as the nomination to the naval academy must be in their hands by March 1," Fish explained.

"As these deadlines are fairly close, any interested young men who wish to apply should do so at once either by contacting my district offices in Poughkeepsie, Kingston or Hudson, or directly to my Washington office.

"It will speed things up if anyone applying will send a high school transcript and three letters of recommendation with their application request," Congressman Fish said. Fish explained that in the future he plans to set up a five-member screening board made up of one educator from each of the five counties in the 28th Congressional District.

Nixon's Debut:

No Bulletins at Press Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Newsmen can not expect to rush from a Nixon news conference with a hot bulletin announcing some major policy decision in reply to a question.

It just won't work that way, if the President's first, formal meeting with reporters in the White House is any criterion.

Nixon is an organization man. He is not inclined to talk off the cuff about policy, as he made abundantly clear. The first conference was business, from start to finish.

Last week, after the inaugural, he had gone from meeting to meeting as Pesident bubbling over with good humor and enthusiasm. He told one joke after another, some straight from Joe Miller.

All that light and fluff was gone when Nixon met the press in the formal East Room.

Nixon was stiff as a board and nervous as he entered the room. The newsmen had been lined up outside in the cold to get into the conference.

Presidential news conferences are valuable in establishing the forum in which the press finds out what is on the president's mind and in which the president finds out what's on the mind of the press and perhaps the people.

And so Monday, without getting any major announcements the press did learn:

1. That the Middle East is topmost in the President's mind as a place where the nuclear powers could get involved in a dangerous confrontation if there is another explosion.

2. That he may think of looking elsewhere than the United Nations for a solution to the Middle East.

3. That he does not quite see eye-to-eye with Saigon about total withdrawal before a cease fire, because such a condition would not fit a guerrilla type of war.

4. That he does not insist on military superiority over the Soviet Union before nuclear arms negotiations but that a "sufficiency" would do. There was no explanation on what a "sufficiency" might be. But something else is mulling over in his mind about arms United States try to improve the political climate with the Soviet, perhaps get political agreements before going into hard and fast agreements to cut back on arms production.

5. He is shaping up a "major" legislative program for Congress and is not sure whether to present it in one lump package as a State of the Union address or possibly in series of messages, one at a time.

6. He is thinking of ways to hold prices in line, but his style is not to go belabor management or labor because it won't work.

'White Paper' Recommended

Hurley Views Against Airport

By SHANE CROSBY

HURLEY — A citizens' committee to investigate the proposed county airport and produce a "White Paper" on the selection of this community as "the prime site" was recommended at Monday night's meeting of the town board.

More than 30 residents took part in what Hurley Supervisor Robert Schneller called "a gratifying display of sharp citizenry" at the meeting where sentiment went against locating a county airport in the town.

Many at the meeting seemed to challenge the cost estimates of the Airport Commission, said Schneller, adding that those who suggested the committee included "flyers and engineers" from the community.

A report filed by the Airport Commission and in the hands of the County Legislature indicated that the Hurley Mountain site meets all requirements for a good airstrip location. The Hurley site would have an elevation of approximately 700 to 720 feet and would be located in the Catskill State Park. It would be about seven miles from Kingston.

The supervisor said the citizens' committee and its proposed "White Paper" is under consideration by the board.

Local reaction to the airstrip included concern over the rural and historic aspects of the town, after the findings were revealed earlier this month.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric came in for some sharp criticism at the meeting as a representative of the utility discussed a planned power line that would cut a swatch through the town's farmland. Schneller said Central Hudson would have to sit down with Hurley Planning Board members to go over any plans for a power line, calling the plan "a mockery."

An emotion-filled plea by a Hurley farm owner brought cheers from those present, Schneller said, as the farmer told how his land would be cut in two by the power line.

Schneller commented that the Central Hudson plan "makes a mockery out of our zoning ordinance." He said the presentation by the utility representative was for progress, but consideration must also be given to much needed farmland.

The state, Schneller added, has asked local communities to preserve farmland. Calling it a "precious commodity," he said the zoning ordinance was attempting to do just that with the cooperation of local farmers and citizens.

No date has been set for the Central Hudson Planning Board meeting, but the supervisor indicated it was needed before the utility proceeds any further.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoke!

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 516-E 276 Park Avenue South, New York City, 10010.

New Paltz Planning Slash To Offset Cut in State Aid

NEW PALTZ — Reaction of community school districts to Governor Nelson Rockefeller's recent proposal to reduce state aid is beginning to make itself felt with the latest action coming from New Paltz Central Schools.

Only the Necessities

Supervising Principal Frederick C. Dippel of this school district has directed his staff to eliminate new programs and new equipment "other than absolutely necessary" from next year's budget. In announcing its planned cuts, the school said the state is planning to make cuts in aid apply to unmade payments due this year, after April 1.

The state's proposed cuts would remove $30,000, or about 60 per cent of the current year's state aid from the current school budget.

Dippel called for the elimination of planned purchases from this year's budget items not yet contracted, to meet the decrease in anticipated funds for the current budget.

The announcement said the state had issued a directive to school districts noting "that the governor intends to apply this cut even to remaining unpaid state aid due this year on payments after April 1."

Very Critical Position

The board of education is "in a very critical financial position" due to the governor's proposal, the school said. "This decision by the governor places the school in a serious situation and if local taxes are to be kept from rising sharply, it is likely that many fine educational programs will have to be eliminated."

Citing continuing rising costs of educational programs, the school said such a cut would place "a great burden upon the local taxpayer" even with a minimum needed programs.

Rudolph's Takes Inventory After a Weekend Burglary

An inventory continued today at Rudolph's Jewelry Store in Kingston Shopping Plaza, in an effort to ascertain the amount of loot stolen in a weekend burglary that has been termed by police officials as "definitely a key job."

It was the second burglary to occur at Rudolph's store in this city in less than two months. The store at 294 Wall Street was burglarized Dec. 8, when the safe was rifled of an undetermined amount of petty cash and jewelry.

Detective Lt. Lemuel Howard, who investigated the latest burglary with Detective Meyer Levy, said examination of the uptown store showed no sign of a forced entry. Howard said that a key definitely had been used to admit the thieves.

The 4-foot wall safe had been ripped open in the back. Petty cash of about $100 and a "large amount" of jewelry was stolen as the intruders emptied jewelry boxes of watches, rings and other articels of jewelry into a pillow case or large bag to cart away, Howard theorized.

According to Howard, the store management admitted the value of the loot taken would be high, but no approximate estimate was given. Police noted that the contents of the safe included a number of articles of jewelry that had been left for repair or had been held on deposit of customers.

Howard said that it is believed entry was made through the front door. He explained that a lock and a heavy steel bar on the back door had not been tampered with. The lieutenant said the manager of the store was not able to give any estimate of the value of loot taken during the weekend burglary.

Meanwhile, Howard said, police were still awaiting a report of the inventory undertaken after the Dec. 8 burglary to determine the value of articles stolen. Entry was gained to the Wall Street store in that break-in by cutting a hole in the roof at the back of the establishment and dropping to the main floor.

DMZ Barrage Kills Nine Reds, 53rd Incident Since the Halt

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—American artillery killed nine North Vietnamese troops with a barrage into the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), military spokesmen said today. They said it was the 53rd "significant incident" in the buffer area since the U.S. halted bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1.

Artillery opened fire into the southern portion of the six-mile-wide zone that divides North and South Vietnam after a spotter plane pilot saw 15 men armed with rifles moving four miles northwest of Gio Linh Monday, the spokesmen said. The pilot later counted nine bodies.

Allied spokesmen said Communist activity has been detected in the DMZ 1,392 times since the bombing halt and that Allied air strikes and artillery have reacted against the activity 824 times.

Saturday at the opening session of the expanded Vietnam war talks in Paris, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge called for re-establishment of the buffer zone. A Viet Cong spokesman "flatly rejected" the call.

In two clashes in the southern portion of South Vietnam Monday, US. fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships killed 42 Communist troops, military spokesmen said.

Twenty-four of the Communist soldiers died after ground fire was directed at U.S. reconnaissance aircraft nine miles west of An Loc and 61 miles north of Saigon. The spotter craft called in fighter-bombers which used bombs and rockets to destroy one heavy machine gun and eight bunkers.

Another 18 Red troops died when helicopter gunships caught them in the open on the southern tip of Vietnam 17 miles east of Rach Gia. No American casualties were reported in either incident.

Four South Vietnamese civilians were killed and four wounded when a Viet Cong mine exploded under a bus on a country road 58 miles southwest of Saigon, government spoke men said.

Early Monday, Communist forces fired 75 mortar rounds into a U.S. landing zone eight miles southwst of An Loc. The barrage caused only light damage and no casualties, spokesmen said.

Paris Negotiators:

Allies Assess Intentions of Reds

PARIS (AP) — US. and South Vietnamese officials anticipate three developments from North Vietnam and the Viet Cong in connection with the Paris peace talks.

Difficult Moments Loom

If they are right, then the Americans and their South Vietnamese allies can expect some difficult moments on the battlefield and at the conference table. But they believe North Vietnam may also be preparing a diplomatic retreat.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese sources give this assessment of the intentions of the North Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front.

1. Hanoi and the Viet Cong will try to inflict some form of military embarrassment on the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces in Vietnam while the negotiations continue in Paris.

There are signs of such preparations in the field, but the sources do not anticipate that the blow will be as heavy as last year's Tet offensive. They believe the attack will be aimed primarily at increasing the American public's distaste for the war.

2. Hanoi and the Liberation Front will use the Paris talks as a forum to enhance the NLF's status and its claim to be the legitimate power in South Vietnam.

This will be the kind of verbal attacks on the Saigon regime that were delivered by the Front during last Saturday's opening session of the full-dress talks One ranking official said he expected "the other side's propaganda broadsides to play a prominent role in the negotiations for some time."

3. Meanwhile, North Vietnam may begin preparing its own people for an agreement which falls short of the victory promised for so long by the Communist leaders.

Significant Change

South Vietnamese officials put more emphasis on this than the Americans do. The men from Saigon point out what they consider to be a significant change in the terminology used by Hanoi's negotiators.

One source said that when the preliminary talks between the United States and North Vietnam began last May, North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy referred to the Saigon regime as the "nguy quyen," the Vietnamese expression for "enemy power."

After President Johnson's bombing halt last Nov. 1, Thuy called the Saigon regime "nha cam quyen," or the "administration."

At last Saturday's session Thuy referred to his Vietnamese opponents as "chinh quyen," an exprssion meaning the South Vietnamese "state," the informant said.

Pueblo Skipper's Goals: Clear Name, New Ship

By JACK V. FOX

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI)—Pueblo skipper Lloyd M. Bucher has two main goals—to clear his name and again command a U.S. Navy vessel.

The 41-year-old commander of the intelligence vessel feels there is no need for Congress to look into the capture of the Pueblo by North Korea one year ago.

Bucher says he is getting a fair hearing at a Navy court of inquiry. He thinks the public has "over-reacted" to his narrative of capture and torture and particularly to the "routine" Navy warning he is suspected of violating Navy regulations for relinquishing his ship without a fight.

The civilian attorney for Bucher, E. Miles Harvey, made those points Monday at a news conference.

Harvey said Bucher was distressed at the impression he is being made a scapegoat for higher-ups.

One of those superiors, Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, testified in closed session before the five-admiral board on Monday.

Johnson will begin public testimony Wednesday. Other officers involved in the operational response to the Pueblo's radio messages for assistance will be called at the same time. Tuesday's session will be closed.

Harvey said Bucher agreed with Adm. Thomas Moorer, chief of naval operations, the Navy was simply seeking the facts.

He said Bucher hoped to command a U.S. vessel again. He said he thought the Pueblo skipper was eminently qualified.

State Businessmen Throwing Solid Block Against Bill to Improve Worker Benefits

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York industry, nearly caught off guard, threw its weight today against an upstate assemblyman's surprise effort to improve benefits to injured workers—at a cost to industry estimated at $6 million to $8 million a year.

The Assembly Labor Committee, headed by Frederick L. Warder, R-Geneva, reported his bill to the floor of the house last week and it was ready for a vote at this afternoon's session.

But Warder conceded that he might have to defer action because of concerted opposition by business interests.

Organized labor strongly supports the measure, which would reduce the waiting period for Workmen's Compensation benefits.

"It's a good bill, and I'd like to see a vote taken on it," Warder told The Associated Press. "But I'll postpone it if the speaker asks me to."

Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea said he believed the bill "needs some amendments." But he would not elaborate.

Warder's move in reporting the bill from his committee took industry's legislative observers unawares and stirred the first significant controversy of the 1969 session—other than the running discussion over Gov. Rockefeller's tax and spending program.

In other developments:

— Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges indicated he would try to cushion the impact of Rockefeller's "austerity" but on local school districts.

— Brydges, long opposed to liberalizing the state's abortion law, said he would do nothing to prevent a Senate vote this year on an abortion bill to be drafted by a legislative study committee.

— Assembly Majority Leader John E. Kingston introduced a bill that would repeal the last vestiges of the "full-crew" law, which the railroads say forces them to carry $11 million worth of unnecessary crew members in this state.

Warder's bill would reduce the waiting period for collecting workmen's compensation benefits from seven to three days and would require payments of benefits from seven to three days from the date of injury, if a worker were sidelined for more than a week.

Under the present law, a worker may not collect benefits for the first seven days of his injury unless his disability lasts for more than 14 days.

Employers pay the cost of the workmen's compensation program, which is administered by the state.

A spokesman for the Empire State Chamber of Commerce said Warder's proposal would add at least $6 million a year to benefit costs. Warder himself put the figure at $8 million.

The Commerce and Industry Association and the Associated Industries of New York State, other business organizations active on Capitol Hill, joined the chamber in opposing the measure.

Warder's advocacy of the bill surprised the business interests, because he has been regarded as a typically conservative upstate Republican—not likely to embrace a measure long advocated, without success, by the State AFL-CIO.

But, Warder contended, "it's an injustice to let an injured worker go without help for a week and then to pay him nothing for that first week if his injury is not prolonged."

Brydges commented on the school-aid and abortion issues in a radio-panel interview.

He said Rockefeller's plan for a five per cent economy cutback from normally higher spending in the state's new fiscal year would deprive school districts of funds they already had budgeted — for their own current fiscal years—and in that respect was unrealistic.

The reason is that, when the state's fiscal year begins April 1, the schools' fiscal year would still be running — through June 30. Thus, if the cutback began in April, they would lose aid they had pencilled into their present budgets.

Brydges suggested this problem could be relieved by making the cutback effective July 1 and compensating for this by making proportionately lower payments in the period after July 1.

On abortion, Brydges said he would not hinder movement of a bill in the Senate, but he would not say whether he would vote for such legislation himself.

"I'm going to wait for Lent's bill," he said.

The Joint Legislative Committee on Public Health, headed by Sen. Norman F. Lent, R-Nassau County, has announced plans to introduce a measure by March 31, after public hearings.

Present law permits abortions only if the mother's life is endangered by the pregnancy. Various bills before the legislature would add many more grounds to the law.

Shortly after Brydges spoke, New York's Roman Catholic bishops, speaking through the New York State Catholic Committee, voiced their continued opposition to any change in the law.

"There is no basis in the public interest for any of the proposed modifications," their statement said.

Various measures would permit abortions in cases of rape or incest, mental deficiency of the woman or if there were evidence that the child would be physically or mentally defective.

Cradle-to-Grave Welfare Plan

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's Labor party government today unveiled plans for the most drastic reform of the cradle-to-grave welfare state in 20 years. They called for ultimate doubling of social security retirement pensions and elimination of the spector of poverty in old age.

The government's proposals were made public in an official white paper presented to parliament.

The proposals were made public only 11 days after another major piece of planned social legislation. This called for a new labor relations code for Britain, giving the government power to curb strikes, enforce secret strike ballots and order 28-day "cooling off" periods before walkouts likely to damage the nation's economy.

Most political observers interpreted the two blueprints as strong appeals to Britain's voters. They were expected to form major planks in the Labor party's platform in parliamentary general elections now generally predicted for October, 1970.

The white paper conceded the present state retirement pensions program is "clearly inadequate." Under it a retired male worker at 65 or woman at 60 gets $10.80 weekly pension. A married couple gets $16.80 weekly.

In its place the government proposed a new program under which both pensions and the weekly social security contributions made to obtain them would be a fixed proportion of a worker's earnings.

The program would take 20 years to reach full effect. By then, the white paper estimated, most retired Britons would get about double what they get now.

A worker making the national average wage of $52.80 would get a pension of $20.44.

Upstate Hall Eyed by Mayor

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan is headed for Oneida to look at that city's new $843,000 city hall, something he would like to see in Kingston.

The mayor plans to "get as many aldermen as possible" to go with him to Oneida and inspect the recently completed city hall. The most recent word from Kingston City Hall is that the trip to Oneida City Hall will will be made sometime in early March.

Garraghan learned of Oneida's new city hall in a recent issue of the Office of Local Government Newsletter and declared that Oneida's accomplishment ties in with his plans for the city.

Garraghan wants to build a city hall, presumably in Downtown Kingston, for "about $850,000." Oneida not only has stayed within Garraghan's estimated costs but has built a facility that is almost twice as large as the one Garraghan plans.

To be specific, the Oneida city hall was built at a cost of $843,241 and contains 40,800 square feet of space.

Kingston's Smaller

Garraghan is talking about a city hall of "about 26,000 square feet for Kingston" at a cost of less than $850,000.

The key, as Garraghan sees it, to the low cost of the Oneida city hall ($20.66 per thousand square feet) is the establishment of Civil Defense Center in the basement of the building.

The Civil Defense Center was built at a cost of $50,689 for which the federal government paid half, the state a quarter and the city a quarter, about $12,300.

Garraghan has voiced similar, money-saving, plans for Kingston's city hall. He said he sees the setting up of an Ulster County civil defense headquarters as the key to savings for a new city hall.

The Oneida city hall is two stories tall and contains all city departments including police and fire with garages for same.

The basement contains the civil service center along with police department service areas, an indoor pistol range and storage areas.

The first floor houses the police department, fire department, city clerk's office, legal department, assessment and taxation office, city engineer offices, health and welfare offices and a lobby.

The second floor contains general meeting rooms for the city's Common Council, city court, the mayor's office and receptionist's office, fire department dormitories and recreation and food service areas.

Plenty of Parking

Parking for both employes and visitors has been provided in the rear of the building on a 4.2 acre site.

Construction for the new city hall was financed through bond issues totaling $775,000, $15,000 in interest on hydrant funds and $15,000 from sale of space to the city's water department.

This news from Oneida is the latest word in Kingston's city hall story which began with a campaign pledge by Garraghan in 1965. Presently, Garraghan has permission from the Common Council to purchase land and hire an architect to build a city hall in Broadway East.

Porpoise AWOL

POINT MUGU, Calif (UPI)—The Navy today appealed to all the ships at sea to be on the lookout for its porpoise, Peg, who went AWOL a week ago.

She escaped her floating pen in the ocean off the naval facility here during the first of two tropical storms that hit California.

Peg was described as 7½ feet long, weighing 250 pounds.

Price Review

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board will review one of its examiner's decisions to outlaw "youth fare" prices offered by airlines. The examiner earlier this month ruled price breaks for youngsters discriminated against full-fare passengers. The initial complaint against the fare plans came from the bus industry.

City Batting .500 on Midtown Parking

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The city appears to be batting .500 in its bid for a parking lot in midtown Broadway.

Joseph Palisi, owner of the Blackstone Pharmacy at 642 Broadway, told The Freeman today that the Pharmacy "is definitely not for sale" and that he "has no intention of selling it."

On the other hand, William D. Brinnier, a Saugerties attorney, who holds power of attorney over the property adjoining the lot for about 180 cars there.

pharmacy at 644-648 Broadway, has written city officials that the "Brinnier Estate property is definitely for sale" and that the orignial amount (discussed a few years ago) has been "drastically revised downward."

The Freeman published a story last week, reporting that both properties were under consideration by the city for a parking lot.

City officials later said that they were primarily interested in the Brinnier property and saw the possibility of a parking

Brinnier is apparently in favor of the plan. He wrote Mayor W. Garraghan, "It may well be that the city will save money by giving serious consideration to the purchase of the Brinnier property."

Copies of the letter were sent to Frank Reis, president of the Central Broadway Business Men's Association and members of the Common Council's Traffic Committee which includes Chairman Peter Mancuso (D-12th Ward), John Machione (R-Second Ward) and Michael Perry (D-Seventh Ward).

According to Palisi, no one has talked to him about the possibility of a parking lot, save for a brief discussion with the mayor about two years ago about the purchase of the Brinnier property.

Palisi says he likes it where he is, although he has no objections to a parking lot near his property. His pharmacy is open from 8:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. Monday through Friday and 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. on Saturdays.

The Council's Traffic Committee will meet Tuesday night to discuss the whole issue.

Who Gave Up Pueblo?

Commander Lloyd M. Bucher of the Pueblo indicates in his testimony before a Navy board of inquiry that the indifference of his superiors to his pleas for more protection for his ship contributed to its loss.

From the skipper's statements, it is clear that his power to resist was far less than it should have been—machine guns against torpedo boats. His power to destroy his equipment or his ship was almost nil, despite his repeated requests for destruct mechanisms.

The Pueblo should never have been placed in such a vulnerable position. Certainly aid should have been available readily at all times. Every possible contingency should have been allowed for.

Since the Pueblo crew was imprisoned by the North Koreans for nearly a year and suffered all sorts of savagery, as pointed out in David Lawrence's dispatch in today's issue, Captain Bucher's statement is no light matter.

If it's true that there is a serious dereliction of duty in the Pentagon as Senator Richard Russell charges, then someone should be brought to task. If Captain Bucher's charges are true that the Pentagon knowingly sends out an ill-protected, unprepared ship to snoop in dangerous waters and comes a cropper, then someone should be punished.

On the determination of his "power to resist" will hinge Bucher's future as a Navy officer, should formal charges be brought against him. His career may already have been determined, however, according to the unwritten law which states that the higher brass never makes mistakes, and if a member of the lower brass dares charge or imply that they have, it is the first and last time he ever does.

Knowing the tradition of reprisals in the Navy when one speaks his piece, it is hard to believe Bucher would invite oblivion with a piece of fabrication.

The Anti-Strike Oath

Federal employes take an oath when they enter Government service that they will not strike and will not advocate the right to strike. The oath is designed to assure that the Government of the United States shall not be threatened by any cessation of service for any reason.

One of the largest unions of federal employes, the 200,000-member AFL-CIO Letter Carriers, is planning to challenge the constitutionality of the anti-strike oath. James H. Rademacher, union president, believes that the oath is an "unconstitutional infringement of Federal employes' freedom of speech through opinion, expression and conscience to be denied the liberty peacefully to advocate the right to strike."

The trouble is that peacefully to advocate the right to strike leads directly to calling a strike and that is what the Government seeks to prevent through the oath required of its employes. An employe can be fined up to $1,000 and sent to jail for a year and day, or both, for advocating the right to strike. Penalties for a strike itself are much tougher.

The union realizes that labor will not get many concessions from the Nixon Administration. This test marks a turn to the courts for relief, which if successful, would mean that organized labor will depend more on the judiciary for its advances than the legislative and executive in the next four years.

Tokyo University students, who hurled rocks, fire bombs and acid and left their campus a mess showed no respect for learning. Like rebellious students everywhere, their objective is to assert their wills, not to improve their education.

The U. S. Highway Administration has approved designs, through the cities of Baltimore and New Orleans, for freeways that no longer destroy esthetic and historical areas and dislocate millions. A revolution of the poor in the inner cities brought about the changes.

Will N. Korean Officials Be Punished for Savagery

WASHINGTON — The North Korean government stands before the world today as guilty of brutality and savagery in the treatment of the crew taken from the American naval ship Pueblo, and held as prisoners for 11 months. Behind this regime are the Communist governments in Moscow and Peking.

Will nations which believe in humanitarianism — even when they take into custody individuals from enemy forces — allow the incident to go unnoticed? Will the protests come from far and wide so that the principles of civilized practice in dealing fairly with prisoners will be widely publicized?

Why do the Communist governments tolerate vicious tactics by their own puppet states? Do they think that they themselves escape responsibility?

The story told by Commander Lloyd M. Bucher last week to a naval court of inquiry might have been regarded as commonplace in the jungles of Africa. But most of the people throughout the world have hitherto assumed that the Soviet government would not have permitted the men who manage its enslaved countries to risk the worldwide publication of the way Communists sometimes handle prisoners.

The Communist extremists believe in torture, and they exact "confessions" for the purpose of publicity and propaganda. One thing that would frustrate such tactics would be for the United States government to announce that any Americans hereafter seized by the Communists anywhere have been authorized to "confess" or admit anything they are asked to say by their captors. This would render these documents immediately valueless as propaganda, and perhaps would save prisoners from such cruelties as the Pueblo's crewmen experienced.

But it wasn't only the American sailors who were subjected to the savage and inhumane ordeals. A South Korean who had previously been taken prisoner was strapped to a wall, after having been tortured. He was shown to Commander Bucher, who testified last week as follows:

"He was alive. But he had been through a terrible ordeal. He had a compound fracture of the arm and the bone was sticking out. He had completely bitten through his lower lip....it was hanging down. His right eye had been put out. His head was hanging down and a black susstance from the put-out eye was dripping down."

All this was done to warn Commander Bucher what might be his own fate and that of his crewmen. He had already been close to death with a revolver at his head. Finally, when he refused to submit, he was beaten into unconsciousness. After several days of such harassment, Bucher was informed that all his men would be shot unless he agreed to sign a "confession." He did so because, he says, he felt the North Korean officers were "animals" who would not hesitate to carry out the threat.

Training in how to torture prisoners is part of a Communist technique and has long been used to frighten citizens who show the slightest signs of disobeying the edicts of the dictatorship regime.

The rest of the world can do much to teach the Communists that this doesn't help them gain either the respect or the cooperation of other nations. International law requires that prisoners be given humane treatment.

North Korea has not proved that the Pueblo was inside her 12-mile limit, but certainly it will be hard for anyone to show that veering a mile or two from the prescribed line deserves the punishment accorded to the men on the Pueblo. What they saw from a 13-mile position, as contrasted with 11 miles or even three—which has been the customary territorial limit — was surely nothing that could threaten the safety of North Korea to the point where such stern measures were necessary.

Some day North Korea will need the friendship of free peoples as it emerges from an era of tyranny and despotism, but between now and such a time the American people will be wondering whether any of the sensible human beings north of the 38th Parallel will care enough about their own future to persuade the North Korean government to correct the wrong which has been done. Will the proper punishment be administered even belatedly to the officials who have portrayed their country before the world as a nation of savagery and inhumanity?

De Gaulle's Political Dotage Befogs the Future for France

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Foreign observers in touch with French officialdom are reporting privately that President Charles de Gaulle seems ever more removed from political reality as his dreams of a strong France fed by outdated nationalism crumble steadily.

For a President Nixon patently eager to generate better relations with Western Europe, this may be good, long-run news, though it has its grim aspect in the immediate future.

Plainly, the French want to get back to the main course of European political and economic life. Indeed, the first fruit of such a return could be the long-delayed admission of Great Britain to the European Common Market — an entry blocked, of course, by De Gaulle.

Nothing has so dismayed the French people, even Gaullists, as his recent embargo on arms and parts shipments to Israel, a move he made without even consulting either his prime minister or his foreign minister.

The urge to let Britain into the Common Market stems not from a sudden flush of economic altruism in France, but from a growing fear — fueled by the crisis of the franc in late 1968 — that West Germany surely will dominate the economic community unless offset by British presence.

Whatever the spur, a dropping of the barriers to Britain would restore France to good estate with those leaders here and in Europe who see long-range promise for the Europeans only in steady moves toward unity. Ironically, France was the great instigator of that movement in the early postwar years.

Nearly 11 years ago, De Gaulle interrupted that trend. Taking power in a country ripped by turmoil, he was widely welcomed for the rocklike stability he brought. But the price to France's "friends" was incredibly high.

The developing economic amalgam of Europe was slowed. French participation in the once-great NATO alliance thinned to a shadow. De Gaulle sought his own diplomatic course as a kind of lonely Third Force, meddling half blindly in the efforts to end the struggles between East and West.

His "allies" suffered and endured, because he held France together as no one else could. That tolerance, sheer good luck and economic prosperity sustained DeGaulle in his fantasy that his country, hardly bigger than Texas, could be the key force in a world of giants.

But 1968, the incredible years for many, sent his dreams crashing. Student revolts culminating in general strike exposed the nation's real fragility. Somehow he pulled domestic political victory from the jaws of defeat. Yet France was left quaking.

Russia's August invasion of Czechoslovakia doomed his fiction that he was serving miraculously as a solitary Third Force, taming Soviet intransigence. DeGaulle as the East-West bridge simply collapsed.

Reeling from that blow, he was struck next with the monetary crisis which put the franc in jeopardy and forced him to seek rescue from, of all peoples, his ancient German enemies and his domineering "friends" in the United States.

Crippling cutbacks in the French nuclear and military programs followed, and the harsh awakening took hold. French military leaders pressed to get France fully back into the NATO netowrk.

The grim news, of course, is that the French, their trust in De Gaulle largely gone, see no real substitute on the horizon. Before the good things can happen, they have to find one. Meantime, their strange master goes on, perversely breaking the eggs his countrymen walk upon in a precariously balanced Europe.

Unpublished Report Reveals Nixon Inherits Crime Headache

Immediately after President-elect Nixon announced his new Cabinet in December, Pearson and Anderson reported that the one man who would face trouble getting confirmed was Walter J. Hickel, Secretary of the Interior.

A series of columns followed, giving the details of Hickel's pro-oil, anti-Eskimo, anti-conservation background as governor of Alaska.

There followed a deluge of mail, probably the heaviest mail the Senate has received in recent years, opposing Hickel. It was estimated that letters and telegrams totaled around 150,000 pieces.

The Senate Interior Committee held five days of hearings over Hickel, and the Senate held up confirmation until two days after the rest of the Cabinet was sworn in. The final vote turned out pretty much as Pearson and Anderson predicted, with Hickel being confirmed but with the most influential Senators voting against him.

WASHINGTON — Probably the most sobering document President Nixon has found on his desk is a "Progress Report" on violence in America, depicting the country in the grip of a fury that has erupted on the campuses and exploded in the ghettoes, that stalks the streets and may even lie in wait for himself behind some dark window.

The unpublished report, prepared by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, raises more questions than it answers. But seven task forces are still digging for the root causes of some of the most turbulent years in American history.

In the past five years, the report points out:

"239 violent urban outbursts, involving 200,000 participants, have resulted in nearly 8,000 injuries and 191 deaths, as well as hundreds of millions of dollars in property damage;"

370 civil rights demonstrations and 80 counterdemonstrations have occurred, involving more than a million participants;

Hundreds of student demonstrations have resulted in seizure of university facilities, police intervention, riot, property damage and even death;"

Anti-war protests "have involved some 700,000 participants in cities and on campuses throughout the country."

The commission also cited the soaring crime statistics, particularly the homicide rate, noting: "A dramatic contrast may be made between Manhattan Island, with a population of 1.7 million, which has more homicides per year than all of England and Wales with a population of five million. And New York's homicide rates are by no means the highest among American cities."

Concludes the commission: "The elimination of all violence in a free society is impossible. But the better control of illegitimate violence in our democratic society is an urgent imperative and one within our means to accomplish."

Nixon Will Cool It

Even before President Nixon was sworn in, he had decided to devote his first 100 days to cooling the passions that have inflamed the country. He will deliberately avoid controversy and conflict. In the language of the streets, he has told intimates he intends to "cool it."

The magnitude of the headache Nixon has inherited is summarized in the report on violence which the commission submitted to President Johnson January 9, on the eve of his departure.

We have obtained a bootleg copy of the report, which covers all forms of American violence from political assassinations to highway accidents. Here are some highlights:

—"The commission has heard testimony from student protest leaders who defend the legitimacy of violent lawbreaking, and who urge that the rightness of the ends they seek and the 'illegitimacy' of the present social order entitle them to oppose both prosecution and punishment. It has also heard a distinguished academician say that from the standpoint of the social order it is unwise to prosecute and punish every act of civil disobedience."

—"Those who would violate valid laws to win rights they are now denied must stop to consider how those rights can be preserved in a society where their opponents are free to follow the same course. One must ask whether any society can survive if its members rely on genuine disobedience to law as a source of political energy."

—"Those who believe in the rule of law cannot rest content with condemning those whose conscience commands them to defy the law. Law itself must be responsible to social change and to the correction of injustice. Our legal system has not yet corrected the injustices our society inflicts on minority groups. If respect for law is to sustain the social order, we need to sharpen the ability of the law to clear the paths to peaceful change."

—"In a democratic society where ultimate power resides in the people, access to the mass media is essential for groups desiring peaceful social change. If important, discontented segments of our society are denied the right to be heard, subsequent resort to violence by these groups may perhaps be expected. Moreover, if a high value seems to be placed by the media on conflict and drama, perhaps to attract the large audiences necessary to economic well-being, this may be a positive incentive for groups to engage in violence. Violence itself may thus become a medium of communications, a means of access to the market place of ideas."

Youth the Key?

—"The key to much of the violence in our society seems to lie with the young. Our youth account for an ever-increasing percentage of the population. The thrust of much of the group protest and collective violence — on the campus, in the ghettoes, in the streets — is provided by our young people. It may be here, with tomorrow's generation, that much of the emphasis of our studies and the national response should lie."

—"The intricacies of crime statistics have little meaning for the average citizen. He appears less impressed with numbers and rates and trends than with the fact that there seem to be increasingly large sections of his city where he cannot walk safely even in daylight, much less at night, and that it is now dangerous in many communities for bus drivers to carry cash or for taxis to pick up fares in certain parts of town after dark. It has also prompted many citizens to arm themselves for self-protection."

—"Of the automobile accidents that account for 50,000 deaths each year in the United States, there is evidence that a substantial number result from the psychological and physiological effects of alcohol upon drivers, as well as from other factors in our culture and in the psychology of driving that promote an urge to violence."

The commission's startling views on political assassinations will be covered in a future column.

Lame Duck Hangover

Johnson Budget Hobbles Nixon

By RAY CROMLEY
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It makes little sense for an outgoing administration to make budgets for the first 18 months of the next president's term of office.

Since he must live with the second half of the Johnson budget for 1969 as well as the Johnson budget for 1970, President Nixon will not be living under a budget wholly of his own making until July 1, 1970, a year and a half from now. By that time, about one-third of his four-year term of office will have passed.

Nixon can make changes, of course, and will. But major alterations are difficult, as outgoing officials make clear. If the budgets are carefully set up to box the next man in, he doesn't have a great deal of leeway.

The outgoing man can promise all things to all men. His successor cannot help but look bad politically. The present system thus invites a party holding the White House as a lame duck to make a political football out of the budget.

There is no sound reason for this awkward situation.

Budgets are almost 12 months in preparation. But it would be possible for the president-elect to be brought into the budget-making early in November of the year he is elected.

He could take over the budget-making process at the stage it was in at that date. His staff could move in, be given access to the position papers presented by the permanent working bureaucracy in the preparation of the budget proposals. These staff men of the new president could also be given consultation rights with the technicians who prepared these papers.

Budgets normally are presented early in January. This need not be the case. There is no reason why, when a new administration comes into office (especially if a different political party will be at the helm) the budget presentation to Congress could not be delayed until April 1.

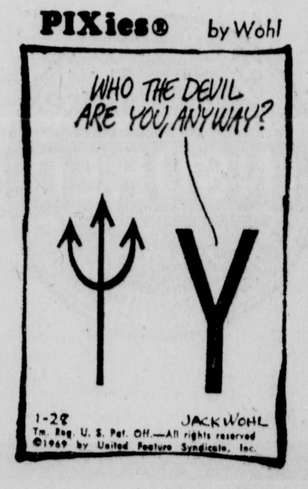

By such a process, the new president and his staff would have almost five months to rework the proposals and to make the budget in reality that of the new administration rather than the budget of the group going out of power.

At the same time, this procedure would give Congress three months to complete action by June 30. This would be sufficient time for all, or almost all, budget proposals to be given careful study by congressional committees.

But if there were items on which the Congress had not completed action by June 30, provision could be made for expenditures to be continued at the old levels pending final congressional action.

Let us give our new presidents a break.

Three Accused Of Break-in At Area Camp

ACCORD—Two youths and a 14-year-old boy were taken into custody Monday by Ellenville State Police BCI officers in connection with a burglary at Camp Shangri-la on Mettacahonts Road.

Wayne Richard Burlerley, 16, and William Smith, 17, both of this community, were charged with third degree burglary. They were accused of a break-in at the camp Jan 17. Both youths appeared before Rochester Town Justice Raymond Lawrence, who released them in custody of their parents and adjourned hearing until Feb. 4 at 7 p. m.

The 14-year-old boy will be petitioned into the Family Court. BCI Officers Michael Mahoney and Thomas Searles made the arrests following an investigation.

Doctor's Wife, 3 Children Die in Fire

NEW YORK (UPI)—A physician watched in horror as his pregnant wife and three small sons perished when flames swept their 3½ - story home in Jackson Heights, Queens, Monday night.

A neighbor said police had to keep Dr. Jose F. Torres, an obstetrician, from returning to the burning house after he had escaped with his daughter, Myra, 15.

The victims were Mrs. Judith Torres, 38, and her sons, Joseph, 6, Jeffrey, 4, and James, 3.

The flames spread to an attached house and an adjacent one, heavily damaging both.

Torres later told police he and his wife had been watching television after returning from a P.T.A. meeting when he heard a muffled roar from the basement. When he opened the basement door, he was met by a wall of flames.

The daughter was in the shower and managed to escape. But the mother apparently was unable to round up the three boys.

Mrs. Torres and the two youngest boys were found huddled on a landing between the second and third floors. The oldest boy was in a rear bedroom on the third floor.

Torres said he had yelled to his wife to "break the windows and go out on the roof." She was expecting their fifth child in June.

Health for All

TB: GLOBAL EXPERTS TO MEET HERE

One of the penalties of being poor is that you are more vulnerable to disease than your better-off neighbors.

This is true of nations as well as individuals. It is lamentably true as regards tuberculosis, a disease that thrives upon conditions associated with poverty.

While the United States and many other nations in the comparatively affluent west have managed to get TB more less under control, 15 to 20 million people around the world still have the active disease. TB is particularly rampant in underdeveloped and impoverished areas of Asia, Africa and South America where the environment is fertile for its spread.

Hope for an ultimate solution nevertheless remains very much alive. In recent years hope has been reinforced by significant improvements in preventive measures that medical science has developed against TB. Dramatic results have been obtained with the drug isoniazid not only in obtaining cures but in preventing infection from developing into active disease. BCG, a vaccine known since early in the century, also is highly effective in immunizing large numbers of people in high risk areas.

The drug war against tuberculosis, possibilities for extending it, and many other aspects of global defense strategy will come in for thorough discussion later this year when the International Union Against Tuberculosis, formed in 1920 with the U.S. as a vanguard force, meets in New York for its XXth International Conference on Tuberculosis. About 3,000 attendants, including leading chest physicians and health scientists from all over the world, are expected. Officials of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, the host organization, predict a strengthened and reinvigorated global struggle against TB resulting from the conference.

Crewson, 65, of Delmar, has been in his present post since 1956.

Judy Garland Married Again; Awaits Divorce

LONDON (UPI)—Judy Garland, married for the fifth time in a secret 3 a.m. religious ceremony 19 days ago, today awaited the divorce papers from her fourth marriage in order to make it legal.

Miss Garland, 46, returned Monday night to the Talk of the Town cabaret, where she was booed off the stage four nights ago and announced backstage that she had married for the fifth time on Jan. 9.

Her new husband is Mickey Deans, 35, a New York discotheque owner.

Miss Garland had earlier delayed a scheduled public wedding because her divorce papers had not arrived. Her fourth husband is Mark Herron, a publicity agent.

Deans said he was Roman Catholic and Miss Garland Jewish. She quickly rejoined. "I'm show business."

Deans said they would go through a public civil ceremony with singer Johnny Ray as best man once the divorce papers from Miss Garland's fourth marriage arrive.

Miss Garland was in her old form during her performance Monday night and even showed up for work early.

It was her first performance at the posh cabaret in the heart of London's West End theater district since she was jeered off the stage Thursday night for showing up 90 minutes late.

Dutchess School Bus and Truck In Collision

ARLINGTON—Passengers on a school bus narrowly escaped injury at 7:45 a.m. Monday, when the vehicle was hit in the rear by a truck operated by a woman on Mancnester Road (Route 55) in the Town of Poughkeepsie.

George T. Post, 58, of 38 Peckham Road, operator of the bus owned by the Arlington School District, was eastbound when he stopped to pick up children. A truck driven by Sally K. Walters, 37, of Titusville Road, reportedly slammed into the rear of the bus.

The woman was taken to St. Francis' Hospital in Poughkeepsie by the Arlington Fire Department Ambulance. She was treated for lacerations of the face, right arm and legs. Town police cited her for following too closely.

The bus had just started on the morning run to pick up children when the mishap occurred.

Teachers Face Some Pay Docks For Absences

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Striking teachers at San Francisco State College today faced pay docks for unauthorized absences from class during three weeks of picketing to back demands for better salaries and working conditions.

The state comptroller's office in Sacramento said Monday it received a preliminary list of 277 striking teachers from administrators at the strife-torn college.

Deputy State Comptroller Ralph I. McCarthy said the paychecks of those teachers named on the list were withdrawn from files pending final certification.

The office handles the massive payroll for all state employes. The present teachers' payroll is the first since the American Federation of Teachers went on strike at San Francisco State on Jan. 6.

McCarthy said the preliminary list did not identify the reasons for unauthorized absence or the amount of docked pay. He said the college administrators must make final identification of the teachers by Thursday and file a certification with his office.

He said a similar list was expected from San Jose State, where AFT members called a sympathy strike to back fellow union members in San Francisco.

Prosecution Gives Hints To Shaw Jurors

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The prosecution in the Clay L. Shaw conspiracy trial opened the second week with hints to prospective jurors that it may be able to link New Orleans and Dallas' Dealy Plaza in court

It was the first time the state had expressed the thought that it may have the means to prove that the criminal conspiracy at which Shaw is accused actually resulted in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

During the first week of the trial, the state told prospective jurors it did not have to prove Kennedy died as a result of the conspiracy.

Shaw, 55, a retired businessman, is charged with conspiracy and not murder and a conviction could bring only one to 20 years in prison.

Picking of a jury continued to be a tedious matter as the trial went into its sixth day. Only eight jurors have been seated out of 274 veniremen questioned.

Of the 83 prospects that paraded through the chair Monday, 20 were excused for having fixed opinions about the guilt or innocence of the 6-foot-4 defendant and 39—nearly half—because they would not receive pay from their businesses.

Controversial Transplant Now in Court

HOUSTON (UPI)—The fine line dividing life from death, brought into renewed prominence recently by heart transplants, may be aired in court as a result of a heart transplant.

An attorney for two persons indicted Monday for killing a Houston man whose heart was later used in Dr. Denton A. Cooley's most controversial transplant said he will contend the heart was removed before the victim was dead.

Hal Hudson, a lawyer for Alfred Lee Branum, a laborer, and Robert D. Patterson, a longshoreman, said he would call both Cooley and Dr. Robert D. Bloodwell, who signed the death certificate, to testify.

Branum and Patterson, both 19, were indicted in the death of Clarence "Sonny" Nicks who died May 7. His heart was transplanted the same day into John M. Stuckwish, 62, of Alpine, Tex. Stuckwish died a week later.

Dr. Pedro Caram, Nicks' family doctor, said death occurred at 10:30 a.m. But Dr. Carol Lind, a pathologist at St. Luke's Hospital where the transplant was performed, said the detected life at 1 p.m.

Bloodwell said Nicks died at 1:58 p.m. The transplant began immediately.

Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, Harris County medical examiner, warned Cooley against the operation because of the legal difficulty involved in performing an autopsy on a heartless corpse and preparing a case for trial.

Man, 91, Killed

LEWISTON, N.Y. (AP) — A 91-year-old Hanover, Ont. man was killed Monday when struck by an automobile as he attempted to cross Ridge Road near here.

State Police identified the man as Walter R. Laidlaw. They said he was visiting with a son at 950 Ridge Road.

Another Jet Goes Hijack Route to Cuba

MIAMI (UPI)—Two men armed with a pistol and explosive burst into the cockpit of a National Airlines jet between New Orleans and Miami today and forced the pilot to fly to Cuba with 32 persons aboard.

The hijackers struck moments after National's Flight 64 took off from New Orleans shortly after 9 a.m. The flight had originated in Los Angeles and had made a stop in Houston.

The Super DC8—the 10th plane to be hijacked to Cuba this year—carried 25 passengers and a crew of seven.

"Please be advised that I am going to Havana," Capt. James G. Brown radioed to ground controllers. "I have two men in the cockpit, one with a .38 and one with some type of an explosive device and they are holding a stewardess."

The plane landed at Havana's Jose Marti Airport at 10:03 a.m., the Federal Aviation Administration said.

Besides Brown, 44, the crew members included Co-pilot James E. Durr, 32; Flight Engineer David J. Schneider, 39, and stewardesses Barbara J. Mohney, Victoria J. Sikorski, Pamela D. Yorda and Donna J. Yost.

National said 11 of the passengers boarded at Los Angeles.

It was the second hijacking of a National plane this year. Last Friday a National 727 jet was hijacked enroute from Miami to Key West by a long-haired teenager who said he was a Navy deserter. The plane carried 40 passengers.

Of the 10 hijackings this year, six have involved U.S. air lines. The other planes belonged to Peruvian, Ecuadorian and Colombian air lines.

National said it did not know when the hijackers boarded the plane.

In past hijackings, Cuban authorities have released both the planes and the people within hours, although they have insisted that fully loaded jets could not safely take off from Jose Marti. The Cuban officials have forced the crews to fly empty jets back to the United States, allowing the passengers to return aboard shuttle flights using smaller planes.

Dutch Church Manger Burned

Fire of incendiary origin damaged the manger on the lawn in front of the Old Dutch Church on Wall Street late Monday night. The blaze was discovered by passersby who notified firemen at Wiltwyck Station at 11:36 p. m.

Engine 2 and Truck 2 responded to the call and extinguished the flames that damaged bedding used by animals in the Christmas nativity scene and the wood siding. Fire Captain Hugh Greer termed the fire as incendiary and asked Kingston detectives to investigate.

Shortly before 7:40 p. m. Monday, a passerby discovered fire burning in a trash can outside Carroll's Drive-in on Broadway at East Chester Street. The man notified the manager, Frank Dart, who summoned firemen from Central Station.

Under command of Captain Greer firefighters quelled the blaze with pressurized water and Indian tanks. The case of the fire was not determined.

Food Fair's Outlook Now More Promising

Q — What do you think of Food Fair? I own 300 shares at an average cost of 15: also 7 of the 20 year 4 per cent debentures — total cost $700 — due in April, 1979, and convertible into common on or before April 1, 1969. What should I do? I'm retired with money enough to get along all right. — J.K.

A — I believe Food Fair common has good long-term potential, but for the past decade share earnings have been erratic, having yet to repeat their peak levels of $1.65 and $1.70 in 1959-60 when the debentures were offered. Net sales, however, have moved up each year since then and will show another boost for fiscal 1969 ending Aphil 30. Profit margins now appear likely to widen, reflecting improved cost controls and new operating efficiencies.

Each of your 7 $100 debentures is convertible into 3 shares of common, which I would take and hold along with the 300 you already own. Annual dividends will amount to $289 for a yield of 5½ per cent on your total investment of $5,200. At current trading levels for the common, this investment shows a paper profit of 46 per cent. This situation offers you growth and moderate yield — a good combination.

Q — We're a married couple with no children or other dependents. We own our home, have $25,000 in savings accounts and enjoy a monthly income of $350 from a retirement annuity. Should we put part of our savings into another annuity to offset a possible lowering of bank interest? — B.A.

A — Yes. I'd go along with the idea of another annuity investment for a couple like yourselves. I suggest giving thought to the joint and survivorship contract, the new variable income contract that is now available on an individual basis, and another innovation — the annuity-mutual fund package being sponsored by a few insurance companies. Newspapers are carrying advertisements of these recent developments enabling you to send for information before you arrange an interview with an insurance representative.

Inmate Helps Girl Stay Alive; Donates Blood

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A baby girl with an extremely rare blood type remains alive today because of the generosity of an inmate at a reformatory near here.

Four brothers and sisters of the little girl had died at birth for lack of similar transfusions.

The inmate was summoned over the weekend from the State Vocational Institution at West Coxsackie, 20 miles south of here.

The blood had been requested by Albany Red Cross officials, and records indicated that one of the institution's 521 inmates had the type needed—O negative JKA.

A special transfer from the reformatory to give the blood was approved Saturday by State Correction Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis.

The inmate had given blood in December at a regular blood bank, and was advised to wait two months before giving again, but decided not to wait in view of the emergency.

The infant was reported doing well in St. Peter's Hospital here Monday.

Dr. Albert Harris, medical director of the Northeastern New York Red Cross blood program said about 6 per cent of the population has o - negative blood, blood, and of that 6 per cent, only 15 persons in 1,000 have the JKA factor.

Slight Error

NEW DELHI (AP) — An elderly Brahmin nearly fainted when he was accused of running an unauthorized meat shop.

"Sir, punish me for whatever you like, but don't accuse me of meat-selling," the Brahmin pleaded to the judge. "I have never touched meat in my whole life."

It was eventually discovered that the Brahmin had been running an unlicensed sweet shop.

Orthodox Brahmins and other high-caste Hindus are usually vegetarian in their eating habits.

Look what their Savings Bank accounts—and yours—did in 1968.

For urban development

$115 million was committed in 1968 by Savings Banks to low-income housing for New York State families—including both rehabilitation projects and new construction—enough to house over 20,000 people.

For the community

Almost 2,000 community buildings—shopping centers, stores, libraries, hospitals, houses of worship, industrial and office buildings—were financed by New York State Savings Banks in 1968.

For employment

In 1968 alone, about 150,000 jobs were created by Savings Bank mortgage investments in new construction. Jobs for carpenters, plumbers, painters, electricians, and workers in related industries.

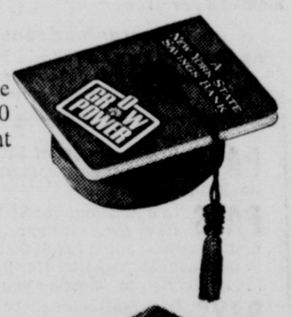

For home owners

With a $1.5 billion increase in 1968, New York State Savings Bank investments in real estate mortgages, mostly homes, soared to nearly $33 billion. Almost half of all the people in the state now live in houses and apartments financed by Savings Banks!

For education

Over 100,000 young people have gone to college with the help of nearly 150 million dollars in Savings Bank student loans, through 1968.

And for the depositors themselves—

—$1 billion, 809 million in interest-dividends, a record high. Even the interest on the interest is $96 million!

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., FEB. 1, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow . . . next week . . . next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous World Mutual Extra Cash Plan that Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week – beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, World Mutual's Extra Cash Plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00—or even $5.00. Your low price is just $1 for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at World Mutual's regular low insure-by-mail rates.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-WEEK Hospital Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance in any other companies! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments – or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Extra Cash protection that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses!

You get your $100.00 per week—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even to a maximum of 2 years, if necessary. And, when you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, World Mutual pays out an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE CASH BENEFIT. You receive not $100.00, but $200.00 a week. Your spouse receives not $100.00, but $200.00 a week. That's $400.00 in all, in cash payments to you every week while you both remain in the hospital—to the full maximum of 2 years!

For older folks—greater protection than you ever would have thought possible!

Right now, would advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Your "life saver" could be this World Mutual Extra Cash Plan – because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. Even if you're 65 or over, even if you're OVER 100—each time you go to the hospital you collect $70.00 a week for the first 13 weeks, and a full $100.00 weekly while continuously hospitalized thereafter...to a maximum of 2 years!

Guaranteed renewable for life.

And you can count on World Mutual's wonderful protection no matter how old you get or how many times you collect from us. It is written into your policy that we cannot cancel your protection after you've made a lot of claims, or become old—or both. It is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE! (Of course, if deception is used in making application the policy may be ineffective.)

And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family – This World Mutual Plan (#WNL 19-968) . . .

. . . Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits when pregnancy results in hospitalization.

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that pays cash direct to you to help buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured for the entire period of pregnancy and have added Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement to a maximum of 2 years!

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits . . . you get all this:

Added cash benefit: A maximum of $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check of $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of readjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose Coverage for Children (with or without Maternity Benefits) and all your dependent, unmarried children from ages 1 month through 18 years will be covered, too! World Mutual pays to a maximum of $6,240.00 at the rate of $60.00 a week when your youngster goes to the hospital . . . for tonsilitis, appendicitis or any other illness or injury. Yes, you will receive $60.00 a week cash, week after week while the child is in the hospital—even to a maximum of 104 weeks!

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

To safeguard family security—if you (the person to whom the basic plan is issued) are hospitalized just 8 weeks or more, all premiums for you and all Covered Members of your family that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by World Mutual! And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 180 days, World Mutual will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHICH COME DUE WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 2 YEARS per confinement! This means you pay no further premiums while you are still hospitalized for this condition, yet your full protection remains in force!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON.
Only $1 for First Month—Money-Back Guarantee.

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only one dollar! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Extra Cash Hospital Plan must be mailed on the convenient Enrollment-Application NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date shown.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your World Mutual policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; pregnancy, except if provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy . . . during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for the condition after the policy has been in effect for only 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered immediately!

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you and your entire family with tax-free Extra Cash Protection for just $1 the first month. How? Because we enroll a large number of people at one time – direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone – and the savings are passed on to you!

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable doctor, surgical and nursing services that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your doctor bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown on your Enrollment-Application—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy—only a few days? Because we must receive your Enrollment-Application the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive your Enrollment-Application. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then—show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still—show it to your own insurance man . . . even though he may very well be working for another company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere—at any price!

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind.

Even after you mail your Enrollment-Application below . . . even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish . . . even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your dollar will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind – you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes". That's right, you will be covered all this time for any accident or illness which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection.

Here are the wonderful low rates.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month to cover yourself, your spouse, and any adult dependents. Each person must be 16 or over, and pays (per person) the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
16-44	only $3.45
45-49	only $3.95
50-54	only $4.45
55-59	only $4.95
60-69	only $5.95
70-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

Only $2 more covers all your dependent, unmarried children

. . . from the ages of 1 month through 18 years. And then, if you wish, just add $1 more to that, and you're completely covered for Maternity Benefits too! Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost!

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment-Application into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. The sooner you mail your Enrollment-Application, the sooner your protection starts. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT TO A MAXIMUM OF $10,010.00 IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the World Mutual Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or health insurance you may have in any other companies. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, World Mutual pays you $70.00 a week for the first 13 weeks and a full $100.00 weekly while continuously hospitalized thereafter . . . to a maximum of 91 additional weeks, if necessary! You can receive to a maximum of $10,010.00 for each new illness or injury when hospitalized!

PAYS to a maximum of $10,400.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

(Source: U.S. Dept. of Health, Education & Welfare)

Social Security Bulletin, July 1967

Govt. figures reveal your present health protection . . . may no longer protect you against today's rising medical costs! Don't leave your loved ones defenseless! Act at once to add coverage that provides to a maximum of $10,400.00 health protection for only $1 for the first month for entire family.

THESE 19 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how World Mutual's EXTRA CASH HOSPITAL PLAN gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
$100.00 per week—to the full maximum of $10,400.00 cash. (If you're over 65, you collect to a maximum of $10,010.00 cash benefits on top of whatever Medicare pays you. $70.00-a-week for first 13 weeks, and $100.00 weekly while you remain continuously hospitalized afterwards, for a maximum of 91 additional weeks!) You collect cash not just for yourself, but for all covered members of your family when they are hospitalized! And you collect cash even if you're in the hospital for only one day!

2. When do I collect $2,000.00 extra cash for accidents?
We pay you $1,000.00 extra cash for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye, and $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes—even if the loss occurs as long as 3 months after the accident.

3. What if I am hospitalized by the same illness—again?
You still collect your $100.00-a-week extra cash to the full maximum of $10,400.00. You need only to have resumed full normal activities for just 180 days—then if if you are hospitalized for the same illness you collect all over again.

4. If I receive more money than my total medical bills—do I keep the "extra cash?"
You certainly do! We always pay you the full $100.00-a-week—all the way to the maximum of $10,400.00 cash. And even if your bills add up to just part of that amount, you still keep every dollar of the extra cash—tax-free! That's why this policy's called an extra cash plan. It's perfectly possible under this plan for you to come out of the hospital with extra dollars you can use for bills, rent, or anything else. And if you already have some health or hospital insurance —all the better for you. Because we pay you anyway, on top of what they pay you! On top of Blue Cross, Major Medical, Workmen's Compensation, or whatever insurance policies you have in other companies!

5. Do you pay me cash even for my children, too? And . . . for my "future" children?
You collect $60.00-a-week cash anytime your child goes to the hospital, when Coverage for Children is added to basic plan. A maximum of $6,240.00 each time any dependent, unmarried child (ages 1 month through 18 years old) is sick and in the hospital. And if you have a growing family—as soon as your newborn child's one month old, he too is covered—automatically...at no additional cost to you.

6. Will you pay me $100.00-a-week cash—even for Pregnancy?
Yes! Many health plans don't cover pregnancy. But we do, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits is added to the basic plan. You collect maximum cash benefits of $10,400.00—for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

7. Are there times I might collect as much as $20,800.00 . . . as much as $41,600.00?
There are! Remember, we pay cash not just for you, but for every covered member of your family. So if you or your spouse are hospitalized more than once . . . or even both of you more than once . . . or if a child gets sick or has an accident — you could end up collecting $20,800.00 or more! And that's not the whole story. World Mutual gives policyowners an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE-CASH BENEFIT. If you and your covered spouse are both in an accident and go to the hospital at the same time . . . World Mutual pays you $400.00-a-week tax free cash. This amount is paid for as long as both of you remain in the hospital. Even for 2 years! You receive up to a maximum of $41,600.00—to pay for doctor and hospital bills and other expenses resulting from one accident alone! We hope illnesses and accidents don't strike your home—but should something happen, isn't it reassuring to know you're so well protected?

8. Can I spend my cash benefits any way I please?
Yes! Spend the money any way you choose. Use it to pay your hospital, doctor, and nursing bills. Use it to pay for rent, food, clothing. Or put it in the bank to replace any income you lost during your hospitalization. All cash comes straight to you (not to doctor or hospital unless you request it) so you alone decide how it is to be spent!

9. Must I pay taxes on the money you send me?
Certainly NOT! Every dollar we send you is 100% tax-free.

10. Am I ever allowed to stop paying premiums during a long stay in the hospital—yet still remain fully covered?
Yes, you are! All premiums that come due after you—the person to whom the basic policy is issued—are in the hospital just 8 weeks or more . . . do not have to be paid! Yes, even if you are in for months, a year, or longer! We pay all premiums for you, and for all covered members of your family, too, while you remain hospitalized. You aren't expected to pay us back either.

11. How can you give me so much—for so little?
Because you buy your policy directly from the company. You don't deal through middlemen. You eliminate costly processing charges and "red tape" that are added into the cost of most insurance. That's the reason why World Mutual can provide you with exceptional high-savings health insurance protection, including a full month's coverage for your family for only $1!

12. How do I go about making a claim?
We invite you to contact CASH BENEFITS HEAQUARTERS direct. Whether you want to make a claim, or just ask us a question, don't hesitate to contact us. As a World Mutual policyowner, you are entitled to prompt, courteous and direct attention at all times . . . and you will get it.

13. Because World Mutual costs less . . . do I get less protection?
Absolutely not. You get more! $100.00 weekly cash payments for a maximum of 2 years for each hospital stay. And that goes for all covered members of your family. Yet all you pay to put this policy in force for one month is . . . $1. And if you want, continue this protection afterwards at the regular low World Mutual rate! That's why we urge you—for your own satisfaction—to compare these big cash benefits with any comparable policy issued by any other insurance company . . . anywhere.

14. Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover?
Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by (a) war or act of war; (b) mental disorders; (c) where care is in a U.S. government hospital; (d) pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and (e) any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy — but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.

15. Will you cancel my policy if I make too many claims? Or because of age?
No—positively not! We don't care how many claims you make. How often you collect from us—how old you become. Your low rate will never be raised and your valuable protection will never be canceled for these reasons . . . because a GUARANTEED-RENEWABLE-FOR-LIFE clause has been written into your policy. The only way your rate can be adjusted, up or down, is if rates are adjusted on all policies of this type throughout your state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)

16. If I'm hospitalized less than a week—do you still pay in full?
Yes! We pay you every day you're in the hospital. There's no "waiting period" before you start collecting.

17. What are the requirements to enroll in this Extra Cash Hospital Plan?
You must not have been refused or had canceled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date shown in the Enrollment-Application.

18. Besides saving money — are there any other advantages of joining World Mutual during the enrollment period?
Yes. A very important one is that you don't need to complete a regular application—just the brief Enrollment-Application in the corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

19. How do I enroll?
Fill out the brief Enrollment-Application and mail it with just $1 for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Co., 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia Pa. 19154.

But the Patterns Differ

Paltz, Wawarsing—Growth and Growing Pains, Too

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

While both the Towns of New Paltz and Wawarsing continue to register population expansions and related growing pains, the two townships follow significantly different growth patterns, as markedly dissimilar as any found in Ulster County.

One of the basic differences between the two areas exists in the fact that whereas the New Paltz wealth was agrarian based, first with flax seed, then live stock, poultry and, finally, apples, Wawarsing, as far back as 1837, was reaching out to become an industrial center.

If New Paltz could claim the Wallkill Valley for its farms and orchards, Wawarsing had the D and H Canal for its importing and exporting.

In 1837, the Ellenville Glass Factory was founded, and from the 1830s to the 1880s, according to Wawarsing Historian Katherine Terwilliger, the hamlet of Napanoch was an industrial site, noted for ax making and the general manufacturing of edge tools.

In 1871, knife manufacturing began in the Wawarsing township which eventually resulted in the Ulster Knife Co., Inc. The Rondout Paper Mill in Napanoch also added to the continuing industrial development.

Met Evolution

The two areas were to undergo change in the 20th Century, but it was Wawarsing that first met the evolution.

Perhaps because of the damming of the Rondout Creek and the discontinuing of the canal, glass manufacturing was halted in the 1890s and Napanoch, except for its paper mill, ceased to be the industrial center it had been for a half century.

In the early 1900s' however, boarding houses and bungalow colonies began to dot the Wawarsing landscape, while New Paltz stuck to its plowing.

New Paltz, in fact, had hit a population high point in 1910 at 1,800. In 1920, the population was down to about 900, a figure which rose gradually to about 1,500 in 1950, still below the 1910 high water mark.

It was during the 1950s that the New Paltz explosion began and by the 1960 official census, the township registered a 91.3 per cent increase, the greatest in the county.

Two Factors

Much of this was due to two factors: the construction of the New York State Thruway interchange at New Paltz, and the phenomenal growth of the State University College.

While the township, including the Village of New Paltz, now has a population of slightly over 9,000 (a special census having been taken during the summer of 1968), Wawarsing, having an ever steady growth over the years, reached over 11,000 in 1960.

It was five years after the college at New Paltz became known as the State Teacher's College that the Village of Ellenville, by referendum, went to the village manager system (1957).

By this time, Wawarsing was already facing a number of the problems which it faces today: inadequate housing, roadways and water-sewer facilities.

Relocation Woes

The housing problems, most acute in Ellenville, has led to large-scale urban renewal demolition which, while removing 25 assorted eyesores in the last two years, has also resulted in minority group relocation woes and land and buildings taken off the tax roles.

While New Paltz was going through its very gradual expansion period from 1920 to the 1950s, the hotels and waning bungalow colony trade brought both Negro and Puerto Rican groups to Wawarsing and especially Ellenville, many of them seeking the better paying jobs in the giant Channel Master Corporation, others just getting along on local employment.

Special

The roadways of Wawarsing, most obviously Route 209, considered by officials as being antiquated and dangerous, continue with accidents being among the highest in the county and traffic tieups troubling both motorists and homeowners.

The absence of water-sewer facilities in some of the northern hamlets of the town has created the dual plague of pollution and flooding.

The "big three" problem areas have been faced in part by the creation of committees, a more complex administration arrangement, and a break with the time-honored tradition of parttime government.

While Gordon Kent's Ellenville Housing Authority operates on an autonomous basis, addressing itself directly to minority group perplexities, and federal funds have already been released for surveying the Napanoch water-sewer district, and whereas a particularly hazardous section of 209 (at the Route 44-55 intersection) is slated for realignment, it would be difficult to overemphasize the benefits of full-time government.

Full-Time Job

Not only is the village manager's position a full-time job at $12,000 annually, but Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin has also made his position full-time, thus effectively abolishing the parttime tradition in the township.

Perhaps full time government is the only answer to the full time problems that have built up over the years.

New Paltz, however, by comparison, even with its tremendous population leap in the last decade, did not and does not face the same set of problems. Its growth has been necessarily more orderly.

The southern tier township is defined by its construction, especially in multi-unit dwellings; in its new Simmons Shopping Plaza; in its taverns (three built in 1968), usually a sure indication of population increase, and the dramatic building program on the college campus, expected to continue for at least six more years.

Following the logic of a master plan, the Paltz construction revolution should remain orderly and within reasoned boundaries.

As for population, while projections indicate New Paltz may inch ahead of Wawarsing in the 1970s, Wawarsing, the county's largest political sub-division, will probably continue to face the greatest tax burden (over $1.4 million) of any muncipality in Ulster, including the City of Kingston.

As with any large municipality, taxes are problems. Ellenville has the highest paid police force of any village in the county, and Wawarsing has the highest paid highway department of any of the county's townships.

Increasing Scrutiny

During 1970, tax exempt properties will come under increasing scrutiny in the Town of Wawarsing as it narrows its search for revenues.

The picture for the 1970s will show that Wawarsing will retain its industrial character, especially with the increasing of facilities at Channel Master, which may include a records center for the Avnet Corporation.

Joseph Y. Resnick's clo' tron Corporation, gearing itself for the manufacturing of reusable plastic bottle caps, will increase its labor force.

The main New Paltz industry has changed from fruit growing to education itself, and if the township holds on to its basically residential nature, the real estate business will continue to register profits.

4-H Tractor Course for Youth

A 4-H tractor operator and maintenance certification program for Ulster County boys and girls 14 years of age and older will be started Thursday, Feb. 6 at the Rondout Valley Central High School Agriculture Department.

Certification allows exemption for the U.S. Department of Labor's directive on Hazardous Occupations in Agriculture. According to a Department of Labor ruling which became effective Jan. 1, certain farm occupations were declared hazardous and youth under 16 are prohibited from working for other than their parents in these "declared" occupations. Tractor driving is considered one of these occupations.

Exemptions are provided for youths under 16 but over 14 years of age to be employed as part-time tractor driver by completing the prescribed 4-H tractor course. Another exemption is for those youths enrolled in agriculture education in secondary schools who have had prescribed courses of instruction.

The ten-hour 4-H course which starts Feb. 6 will conclude with a practical operating examination including daily service, two-wheel wagon event and safety such as the 4-H Tractor Operators contest.

Anyone interested in obtaining more information may contact the 4-H Office at 74 John Street, Kingston.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I have a beautiful set of twin rocking chairs with slats in the back, and what we call removable cushions. This means the back and the front cushion turn over and are reversible.

There is only one thing wrong with them . every time we get up out of the chairs, the back cushion falls down flat on the seat.

Now what do I do?

A Pair of Rockers

Try taking one of those little key chains that ordinarily hold a bunch of keys together, and remove the keys from it.

Run the chain through the hole in the end of a big safety pin.

Pin the safety pin to the back of the cushion and fasten the key chain through one of the rungs in the back of your chair. When the cushion needs to be turned over, remove the pin and pin it to the other side.

And do you know that these chairs with square cushions and square backs should not only be turned over but UPSIDE DOWN from time to time? Sure saves the fabric and stuffing and especially the edges.

This also works on any fabric cushion in any kind of a frame such as gliders, etc.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Place a carrot lengthwise through the middle of your meat loaf before baking it, and you will have a very pretty sandwich idea for special occasions.

Linda May

Dear Heloise:

My husband thought of something to help me on laundry day, and I thought your readers might like to know about it.

Anyone who has a portable television set and has now purchased a console model has a television stand that is probably not in use.

Put your clothes basket on the TV stand (the clothespin bag will hang on the side handle). Then when you are hanging clothes; just roll the stand along with you.

There is no bending to get clothes out of the basket because the stand makes it just the right height. You will pull the clothes right along with you.

It sure saves a lot of steps and backaches.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

While discussing a friend recently at a party I called her a maiden lady. No one knew what I meant. When I explained, they said I was incorrect.

She was an old maid.

Another said she was a spinster.

One unmarried lady said we were all wrong:

The correct description is CAREER WOMAN.

"Spinster"

Dear Heloise:

Ever wonder where to use spray starch so it doesn't spot everything around the article being treated?

I lay garments on the wrong side of a rather limp shag rug.

When finished I put the rug across a kitchen chair to dry.

No more mess and when the ironing is done, I have a well-bodied shag rug to boot!

MALE IMPERFECT

These are common flaws in dress made by men, according to the American Institute of Mens and Boyswear:

The impractical idea of tucking a formal bow tie under the collar points. (If your going to wear a tie—show it!).

Mini-socks (anklets) with anything other than golfing or tennis togs.

Wearing anything other than black shoes with a dark semi-formal suit a night.

Coat collars that gap away from the neck (at the back and at side). This can be easily corrected by any tailor.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

Air freight is flying high, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist. And that includes fresh fruits and vegetables. Such prosaic items as watermelons, lettuce, radishes, and garlic are taking the overair route from the West to East Coasts instead of the overland route. One takes a few hours, the other seven to 10 days.

Market studies have shown that as much as 15 per cent of the shipments of strawberries can spoil while being marketed, which includes overland transit. And since they are also high priced, strawberries make the big hop across country more often than any other item. Other major fresh produce items by air include lettuce, tomatoes, grapes, cherries, oriental vegetables, and asparagus.

Shipments of produce by air leading source—nearly doubled between 1965 and 1967. The big drawback to greater shipments is the high costs, of course. A sharp expansion is expected when the rates drop. And that may come with the jumbojets, scheduled for 1970.

Do you realize that a sensor may be scanning you from space at this very moment? Remote sensors — cameras, scanners, radar, and similar instruments — now used for many purposes, are being adapted to agriculture. At the present time, sensing from satelites and high flying aircraft can locate cultivated acreage, show its dimensions, and give a good idea of its use. To be really helpful, the sensors need more development, such as specific crop identification and yield indications from a photographed area. Then, these new instruments may become fast, accurate crop forecasting method.

AT THE MARKETS

Fruits and Vegetables — Freezes and other unfavorable weather have cut into supplies of fresh vegetables in areas that produce for the Metropolitan New York market. Shoppers have been seeing high price tags on such items as snap beans, green cabbage, cucumbers, and other tender vegetables. Consumer price reports of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets confirm the generally high prices for fresh vegetables. The best chance of finding economical buys are to shop for cauliflower, celery, Iceberg lettuce, potatoes, and onions.

Apples in film bags of the 2¼-inch size continue to be a leading fruit selection. Shoppers will find plenty available at reasonable prices. Despite some freeze damage in Florida, citrus remains a fresh fruit choice. Shop for limes, oranges and small-size grapefruit.

Fishery Products — Supplies of fresh fish and shellfish are on the short side with prices high, report market observers at the Fulton Fish Market. The more plentiful choices among fresh fish and shellfish include bluefish, cod, flounder, Kang and Spanish mackerel, mullet, red snapper, smelts from Canada, striped bass, whiting hard clams, North Carolina scallops, and shrimp. Whiting is probably the lowest cost selection. Whiting is found in markets in whole, drawn form, generally weighing ¾ pound to one pound. It may be filleted. Note that many of the fish listed above are from the South where the weather is more favorable for fishing operations.

North - Schrader Wedding Told

Miss Mary Lou North, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour North, Glenford, became the bride of Jack A. Schrader, son of Mrs. Hazel Schrader, Glenford, on January 2, at Ashokan United Methodist Church.

The Rev. J. Filson Reid officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Norton, 59 Emerick Street, Kingston, served as matron of honor and best man.

After the wedding a reception for the family was held at Oehler's.

The bride is a graduate of Onteora High School and is employed by Ideal Camera Corporation. Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Schrader will reside at 232 Foxhall Avenue, Kingston.

Helpful Hints

Potatoes put sparkle into tired eyes and help to reduce puffiness. Grate a large raw potato and press between two layers of gauze or two clean handkerchiefs. Rest lightly over the eyes. Lie down for half an hour.

* * *

To remove scorch from glass or enamelware use 1 part chlorine bleach to 4 parts water. Cover burned areas with solution and bring slowly to boil or soak overnight. Rinse. (Do not use if enameware is chipped.)

If you run out of baking powder you can combine cream of tartar and baking soda for a similar effect: ¼ teaspoon of soda plus ½ teaspoon of cream of tartar can be substituted for one teaspoon of baking powder.

* * *

Potato flour can also be used as a thickener. Substitute 1¼ teaspoons of potato flour for one tablespoon of all purpose flour in gravies or puddings. For baking, ⅝ cup of potato flour can be used in place of one cup of all purpose flour.

Males Struggle for Equality

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

In 1968 men made strides in their unceasing attempts to achieve equality with women.

In Washington the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission said a man can be as good an airline stewardess as a woman. The commission ruled that "sex wasn't a bona fide occupational qualification for the position of flight cabin attendant "and that an airline that refused to hire members of a particular sex to attend to passengers' needs violated the law.

In New York a jilted suitor won his case to get back the $2,500 diamond engagement ring he gave the Bronx secretary he had asked to marry him.

Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N.Y., admitted its first men students—6 among 500 girls. College President Esther Rauschenbush said solicitously, "We are trying to find out if what we have to offer is good educational experience for men."

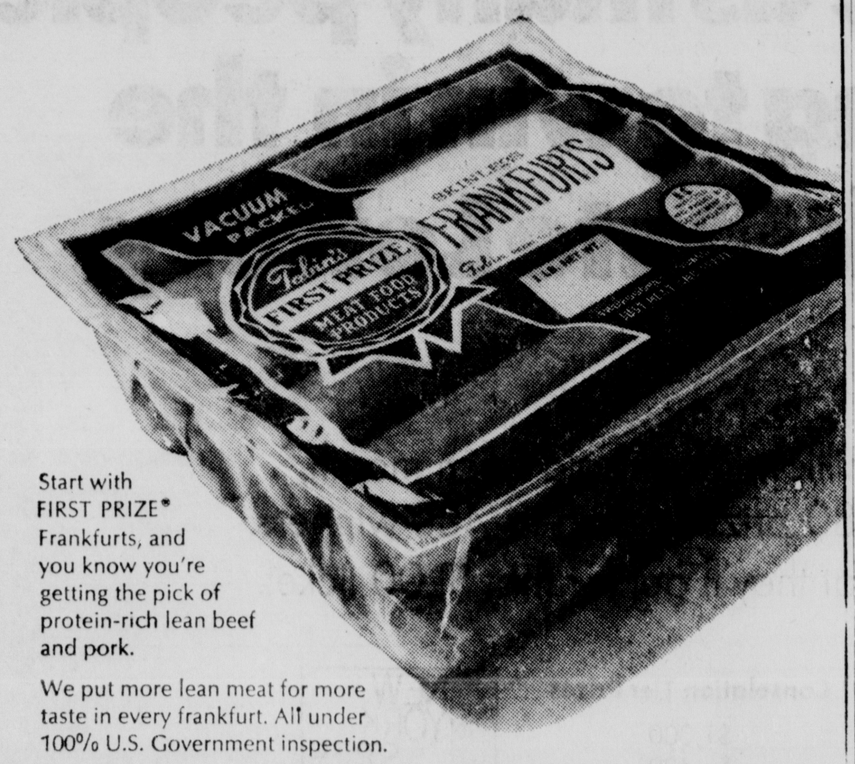

Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., plans to admit male students in September, 1970.

In a spirit of reciprocity Yale University announced it would enroll 500 girls next year, the first in its 267-year history. Two of the country's leading boarding schools—Choate, a boys' school, and Rosemary Hall, for girls—planned to merge by 1971.

Furthermore, the independent Lambda Nu fraternity at Stanford University, went coed and admitted 20 women frat members

Too Much or Too Little Mama for Youth

By JOAN SMITH
Wisconsin State Journal

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — "Many adolescents who get into trouble are either over or under-mothered," says Dr. Richard Arnesen, a psychiatrist who works with boys at Mendota's Adolescent Treatment Center.

Dr. Arnesen calls delinquency a result of "improper weaning" and says that overly protected youngsters from middle class families can get into just as much trouble as youngsters from slums.

"Kids that have been left to shift for themselves often find the world a very hostile place." Dr. Arnesen said. "They may get into trouble earlier than kids who have been pampered, but I feel that either treatment is a kind of neglect. The 'spoiled' child is in a bind because Mother hasn't let go; the other's reacting because of insufficient mothering.

"The big push of all humanity is toward an independent existence—to take care of ourselves. It's found everywhere in nature. A mother bear will take her cubs when they're ready and leave them in a tree. The next morning, they crawl down, no mamma. They're scared at first but they soon manage to cope without her. They've been well-weaned. I don't think we'll ever make it as well as the animal.

"We humans have trouble when we're held to the breast too long, ripped from the breast too soon, or held to the breast and pushed away at the same time.

"Improper weaning leads to this push-pull situation, this universal conflict, which gets people into a lot of trouble. 'I want to be a man on my own two feet, but I still need Mama around.'"

Dr. Arnesen said that this conflict is felt by everyone in varying degrees. When it is severe, "behavioral symptoms" such as delinquency, alcohol or drug addiction or homosexual behavior may develop.

"Delinquent behavior is a good example. Let's take the kid who slugs a policeman. He's picked a powerful adversary to battle. Like David and Goliath, this behavior 'proves' he's a superman—he must be to tackle such a giant.

"But what happens to that kid? He goes to jail. And what's jail? In symbolic terms, a big breast. He's managed to get himself into a place where he'll be taken care of. He has found a Mama.

Dr. Arnesen says many parents cling too tightly to their children and prevent them from assuming responsibility for their own actions. He says that this makes youngsters feel unsafe.

"Every parent is reluctant to let his kid grow up. It takes courage. There comes a time when you simply have to let go of your kids. When your kid wants to take his first step, do you have the guts to let go of his hand?

"When my little boy was 3 he wanted to go a couple of houses away and he wanted to go alone. My wife, who is a good mother, let him go, but she watched him out of the kitchen window.

"When he was a little older, he wanted to go a block away. She couldn't see him out of the kitchen window. She thought of all the things that could happen, like he could get run over by a car, but he was ready so she let him go away.

"Many mothers neglect to look away from the kitchen window. Why?

It's because we ourselves have been improperly weaned. We see ourselvs in our kids. We think they're not going to make it because we haven't made it. We're scared for us, and we're scared for them too.

"But, if we don't handle them properly when they're small, when they're adolescents all hell breaks loose!"

Mendota's program for boys 13 to 16 is designed to give the youngsters, many of them referred by the courts, a sense of responsibility in an atmosphere of safety.

"When a boy enters," Dr. Arnesen said, "he's given a great deal of supervision. Mother is always around. As he improves—gives up his symptomatic behavior with a willingness to accept more and more responsibility—he is transferred to a ward which is less supervised.

"But he does it at his own rate. Nobody pushes him. We just encourage him to develop a sense of self, a sense of accomplishment. We want him to feel that it is possible for him to achieve adulthood, after all."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 4, 1968
Citizens and the Police
The rising volume of burglaries in Kingston and the surrounding area makes action imperative by both the business community and the home owner. If these robberies are to be checked, everyone will have to take greater precaution and cooperate more sensibly with police authorities. The general public, if from no other than a selfish motive, should participate in this endeavor to protect their property and to apprehend criminals.
It is true that the community has an understaffed police force and that we need more policemen, but even an enlarged force could not be expected to keep constant vigilance over all properties. Here is where the individual citizen comes in. If we are to stop the increasing number of robberies, the people must participate in every way possible.
The Ulster County Savings Bank in cooperation with the Kingston Police Department has made available a booklet, "Guardians of Your Life and Property," which outlines how citizens can participate in crime prevention. Besides suggestions to householders and precautionary advice on such matters as solicitors and peddlers, strangers with pretexts, leaving the home on vacations, your child and the baby-sitter and obscene telephone calls, the publication contains information on how you can aid in the detection and suppression of crime. It also has important information about the activities of the police department and some of the measures which contribute to your safety. Telephone numbers of the state, county and city police together with those of the fire department and ambulance service are listed.
The booklet, which will be made available to all citizens, should be placed near the telephone for ready reference. It will be a valuable possession in every Kingston home. The local banking institution is to be commended for this important community service.
With this booklet to guide them, everyone can now assist in an all-out effort on crime. It is well to remember, that before we can stamp out crime, we first must stamp out apathy on the part of the public.

This editorial tells it better than we can . . . If you'd like a copy of this booklet, come in and see US

KHS Swimmers Crush Comets

SOUTH FALLSBURG — Gene Gruner set pool and Kingston High School records, as the Maroons won everything but the 200 yard medley relay in routing Fallsburg High Comets, 66-29, in a DUSO League swimming meet Monday.

Gruner's time of 1:00.8 in the butterfly shattered the record of 1:01.1 set by Fred Lough of Highland Falls in 1967. Lough is now a member of the U. S. Military Academy swimming team.

Gruner's 241. second clocking in the 50-yard free style set a new Kingston High mark.

The victory was the second in three DUSO outings for Coach Ron Gabriele's DUSO contenders, who trail undefeated Newburgh Academy by one match in the league standings. The Goldbacks drubbed Middletown 66-29 for their third straight victory.

Craig Murray and John Brinnier also registered doubles for Kingston.

Brinnier took the 200 and 400-yard freestyle events, while Murray captured first places in the 200-yard individual medley and 100-yard breaststroke.

Other Kingston winners included Brian Williams in diving; Pete Helmich in the 100 free style and Mike O'Hara in 100 backstroke.

The Fallsburg quartet of Dave Rogers, Ron Hinkley, John Skubon and Bob Orlowsky was clocked in 2:05.8 in giving the Comets their only win, in the opening event. The Kingston swimmers amassed 10 firsts, four second places and two third places to pile up their 66 points.

Kingston topped off its victory by winning the 400 yard free-style relay in 4:17.6. O'Hara, Brandon Jones, George Schonger and Helmich made up the Kingston quartet.

The biggest surprise of the day, according to Coach Gabriele, came in the diving event where Kingston has been traditionally weak. Brian Williams and Mark Ohlson jolted the Comets by finishing 1-2 in that specialty.

"For some reason, Fallsburg always seems to bring out the best in Kingston," commented Coach Gabriele. "Possibly, it's the excellent swimming conditions—by far the best in the DUSO League."

Coach Gabriele's swimmers have swept four straight meets from Fallsburg after losing their first encounter in the 1966-67 season.

Kingston, now 3-2 overall, goes New York Military Academy at Cornwall Wednesday. NYMA is a new opponent on the KHS schedule and is rated as tough as the invincible Poughkeepsie High team.

"Anyway," philosophized Coach Gabriele, "the boys will get a look at the inside of a military academy for the first time."

SHOT THAT DID IT — George Archer may have saved his victory with this difficult chip from sand trap on Pebble Beach 17th green Monday which stopped one foot from the cup (ball beside pin) and gave him a par 3. It was a crucial shot and he went from there to par the 18th and win the Bing Crosby tournament with a 72-hole total of 283 (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Crosby to Archer

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Many followers of the game these days rate George Archer as the best putter on the golf tour.

After the way he played Monday to win the $150,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am they could add he's pretty good from tee to green, too.

Archer, the gangling Gilroy, Calif. native who placed fourth on the money winning list last year with $150,000, had every part of his game under complete control in the Crosby final. It wasn't spectacular golf, two birds, a bogey and 15 pars, but it was good enough for a one-under 71 and victory by a stroke over Howie Johnson, Bob Dickson and Dal Douglass.

"I was generally pleased with my round," said Archer, who won the Pensacola and New Orleans Opens last year. "I hit the ball real good going into the greens and I putted about as well as I expected to. It's always nice to start the year with a victory like this."

Archer did play well but it was more a case of the competition not keeping up as much as his own shooting.

Douglass started the final round two strokes ahead of George but lost the lead quickly with a string of three bogeys from the seventh through ninth holes. Johnson and Dickson, who shot 73 and 68, respectively in the final round, were next and George withstood the challenge.

Dickson, the 1967 Amateur champion, got into the running on the final round by bagging six birds and two bogeys through the 15th, then missed his big chance by failing to sink birdie putts of eight feet on 16 and seven feet on 17.

Johnson started the day a stroke ahead of Archer, fell back as a result of bogeys on the seventh and eighth holes, but rebounded with birds on the 12th and 16th. His bird on 16 came on a 30-foot chip shot from off the apron. That put the veteran Johnson in a tie with Archer for the lead at that point but Howie took himself out of the chase on 17—a par three, 218-yard hole—when he three-putted from 20 feet.

Archer thus won $25,000 while Dickson, Johnson and Douglass, who closed with a 74, won $9,666 each. Dickson won an additional $3,500 when he and his amateur partner, Jack Ging, combined for a 31-under-par 257 in the pro-am best-ball competition.

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper, as well as defending champion Johnny Pott, U.S Open king Lee Trevino and Masters champ Bob Goalby, never figured as serious contenders on the final day.

Nicklaus shot a two-under 70 to wind up at 287, two more strokes behind young John Lotz; Palmer had a 73 for a 293; Casper a 70 for 290; Pott a 73 for 290; Trevino a 72 for 291 and Goalby a 75 for 292.

Bills Pick Up O.J.'s Tab

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—The Buffalo Bills, aching to avoid the embarrassment of another last-place finish, today named Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson to spearhead their rebuilding efforts in the American Football League's Eastern Division.

Simpson, two - time All-America from Southern California, was the first player named in the combined AFL-NFL draft of collegiate football stars. In all, 442 players will be tabbed by the 26 professional teams during 17 draft rounds today and Wednesday.

Simpson is expected to sign with the Bills for a record salary and bonus package--undoubted' exceeding the $600,000 given Don Anderson by the Green Bay Packers in 1965.

The Bills had first choice in the draft because they finished the 1968 season with a 1-12-1 record, the worst in either league.

Ralph C. Wilson Jr. owner of the AFL club, had left little room for speculation about his club's first round selection. He said from the start that Simpson was his man, and reaffirmed his stand Monday night.

Simpson said he preferred the West Coast, he preferred the NFL and he wasn't sure Wilson would be willing or able to pay him enough money to make playing in snowy Buffalo worth his while.

Many observers felt sure that each remark was carefully designed to push his price up by several thousand dollars. Simpson has indicated he wants at least $600,000—and perhaps as much as one million dollars to sign his first professional contract.

The big factor in Simpson's favor was Wilson's "embarrassment" over his club's poor showing in 1968, just two years after the Bills won their last Eastern Division championship.

Bullets Burn Pistons

The Baltimore Bullets ended their National Basketball Association losing streak just in time.

With all but one-half game of their Eastern Division lead melted in the heat of a three-game losing streak, the Bullets pulled out of the sag with a 126-106 victory over Detroit Monday night. It restored their lead to one game over idle Philadelphia.

In the only other NBA game played, the Seattle SuperSonics turned back the Milwaukee Bucks 128-107 in Tacoma, Wash.

Kevin Loughery poured in 37 points and added 11 assists to lead the Baltimore attack. It was Loughery and Earl Monroe who keyed a 10-point Bullet string in the third period that opened a 78-67 lead for Baltimore.

Monroe, favoring a sprained left ankle, was held scoreless in the first half after picking up three quick personal fouls But he got hot with eight points in the final three minuts of the third period and finished with 20 for the night in 26 minutes of action.

Gus Johnson had 23 and Loughery hit on 16 of 26 shots for his 37.

Dave Bing led the Pistons with 22.

Bob Rule's 31-point output triggered Seattle's success over Milwaukee. A jump shot by the big center at the outset of the second period broke a 26-all tie, and the Sonics led the rest of the way.

Sawyers Set For Lourdes

By DENNIS CARO
Freeman Sports Staff

Times have been tough for Our Lady of Lourdes basketball coach Vince Dutkowski, who last week saw his Warriors lose three straight and plummet from second to fifth place in the Central Section of the Dutchess County Scholastic League.

And tonight, if Saugerties coach Bud Smith has his way, that plunge is going to continue.

The Sawyers were hopelessly outclassed when they hosted Lourdes in their DCSL season opener back in the early part of December—but that was also back when Dutkowski had a title contender, and, to be more specific, guard Frank Barry who is now apparently lost for the year.

This time it should be different. Saugerties is coming off a very impressive 92-48 win over Cardinal Farley Military Academy, impressive because it was the Sawyers' first win of the year and because Farley was the team that pulled the plug on Lourdes a week ago and start their current skid.

"For the first time we really jelled," Smith said after victory number one hinting that this type of performance can beat better teams than the Cadets.

It could be. Smith went with 2-1-2 zone press starting at about three-quarters court for the whole game against CFMA, and this is the type of defense that the Warriors are weakest against.

With Barry out, Joey White is the only fairly accomplished ball handler Dutkowski has and he can be pressured into making mistakes. White can also shoot the eyes out of the basket from long range, but only if he is not to closely guarded.

Smith received fine performances from Bill Benham, Bill Kassell, John Carnright and Roger Praetorius against Farley, performances that will have to repeat for a victory at Lourdes.

In other area cage action, Coach John (Chick) Meehan takes his Rondout Valley squad down to Ellenville for an unaccustomed role as warmer-up.

The Ellies, currently in second place in the Village DUSO League a game behind Liberty, have their title showdown in Indian territory Friday night and Skip Liebenow's squad figures to be looking ahead just a little bit.

Rondout has been pretty much eliminated from the race in the Ulster County Athletic League (as has every other team in the loop) but the Ganders did win the season opener against Ellenville handily at Stone Ridge.

Highland travels to Rhinebeck in the only other area game on tap tonight.

For Mike Hoffman: His Toughest Battle

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

The prayers of his saddened football teammates and the entire student body at Kingston High School are with Mike Hoffman through these agonizing hours.

They fervently pray that Mike will win the greatest battle of his young 17 years.

They know that the fine young quarterback had just received full four-year scholarship at North Carolina State, the famed Wolfpack at Raleigh, N. C. And they are praying for the fulfillment of Mike's dream to be a quarterback with a major college football team.

It is a cruel irony that only a few hours before the terrible accident that nearly snuffed out his life, Saturday night Mike had enjoyed one of the supreme moments of his young life.

The setting was the Capri in Port Ewen—the first annual banquet of the newly-formed Kingston High School Football Boosters Club. It was just coincidental that Mike's father, Pete Hoffman, was first president of the new organization.

Most Improved Player

Coach Frank Modica and the rest of the Maroon football staff had voted Mike as the Most Improved Player on the 1968 team which shared the DUSO League championship with Newburgh Academy. MIP awards generally don't go to the star quarterback of a championship team but the award was symbolic of Mike Hoffman's ability to fight his way back to the top after a disappointing junior year.

Mike accepted his trophy from Paul Gruner, the firebrand who keeps KHS players "up." A few minutes later, he returned to the microphone — tall, handsome and boyishly disarming—to express the gratitude and thanks of the players to the coaching staff.

Coach Modica, as compassionate a man as ever coached a high school football team, recalled Mike's gallant cmeback from a so-so junior performer to a fine young senior quarterback with major college potential.

MIKE HOFFMAN

"As soon as I learned I had the football coaching job, I was constantly asked who my quarterback would be, "Modica recalled last night.

"I was aware that Mike had been unimpressive as a junior, but I remembered that he had been a good quarterback for the freshman team I coached. I was confident Mike could handle the varsity and he repaid my faith in him," he added.

Word from North Carolina sports information office is that Mike signed a grant-in-aid which consists of a four-year scholarship that covers tuition and books, room and board and a laundry allowance.

A check of KHS game films, recommendations from Coach Modica and a visit to the Raleigh campus by Mike convinced Wolfpack football coach Earle Edwards that the 6-1, 195-pound Hoffman would be an asset to State as a signal caller.

Mike, who completed 57 per cent of his passes last season, will study computer science on his four year grant-in-aid at North Carolina State.

The vigil continues at the Kingston Hospital.

Coach Modica summed up the feeling of the coaching staff, the football players and the student body at KHS when he said:

"We're all praying for Mike to make it. He has too much to live for."

Maravich New Chinese Soup

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

While Adolph Rupp and the Kentucky Wildcats are having their cake and eating it, too, Ray Mears and his Tennessee Volunteers are thriving on an unlikely Chinese dish named Pete Maravich.

The Kentuckians had a cake celebration for the third time this season and Rupp claimed his 800th coaching victory Monday night following an 83-70 overtime conquest of stubborn Alabama.

Meanwhile, Tennessee, which held Louisiana State's Maravich to lows of 17 and 21 points last season, limited the national scoring leader and defending champion to another 21, this season's low, with a Chinese defense in an 81-68 victory over the Tigers.

Kentucky enjoyed its first cake after beating Mississippi State on Jan. 6 and claiming it was the first school to post 1,000 college basketball triumphs. The NCAA, however, threw out five games played in Israel in 1966 but Kentucky uncovered three previously overlooked victories in the early 1900s and celebrated again two games later.

Now comes Rupp with his 800 wins, including the five in Israel, so perhaps the menu should have been matzo ball soup instead of cake.

"They're just a bunch of cake eaters, and they played like it tonight," said a Kentucky spokesman after lowly Alabama, 4-9, had scared the daylights out of the fifth-ranked Wildcats, 13-2.

Kentucky led most of the way but Alabama's Jim Adkins tied the score at 64-all by making a free throw with 18 seconds left in regulation time.

The overtime was a different story. Larry Steele tipped in a basket, Mike Casey hit a 15-footer and Dan Issel sank two free throws for a 70-64 lead. After an Alabama basket, Kentucky broke it open, with the 6-foot-8 Issel scoring seven overtime points and finishing with 33.

Tennessee's Mears described his Chinese defense as a zone with two men concentrating on Maravich.

"It takes more than one guy to stop him," said Mears, noted for his teams' defensive play.

Maravich, averaging 46 points a game, made eight of 18 shots under intense pressure.

The only other teams in The Associated Press' Top Twenty besides Kentucky to see action Monday night were 13th-ranked Tulsa, which overcame North Texas State 104-94, and Dayton, No. 20, a 72-64 winner over Xavier of Ohio.

New Baseball Setup Is Scheduling Revolution

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—It'll be tough enough coping with the Royals, the Pilots, the Expos and the Padres at the start of the 1969 baseball season.

But, assuming there will be a start after a settlement of the current labor-management difficulties, a little more homework than merely sorting out the new expansion team is in order for this Hot Stove League interim.

We have a scheduling revolution on our hands with 24 teams in two leagues shook up into two divisions each. Who plays whom and how often will have a bearing on who plays whom in the World Series.

For those who haven't been listening at all, we have the Kansas City Royals and Seattle Pilots created as new entries in the American League. The Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres are in the National.

Now we go to the division breakdowns, listing each city with last season's finish which included a couple of ties along the way:

American League

East—Detroit (1), Baltimore (2), Cleveland (3), Boston (4), New York (5), Washington (10).

West—Oakland (6), Minnesota (7), California (8), Chicago (8), Kansas City, Seattle.

National League

East—St. Louis (1), Chicago (3), Pittsburgh (6), Philadelphia (7), New York (9), Montreal.

West—San Francisco (2), Cincinnati (4), Atlanta (5), Los Angeles (7), Houston (10), San Diego.

Teams in each division play each other 18 times—nine home and nine away. They'll play 12 each with teams in the opposite division of the league—six home, six away. The total remains 162.

But at the end of 162 games, division winners in each league play a best of five series for the league championship and the right to go on to the World Series.

Some critics insist the arrangement contains inequities and will not produce a true champion but the possibilities are intriguing as the National Football League discovered happily when it went to a four-division setup starting with the 1967 season.

Next year, no baseball club will be worse than sixth and that's important to the ticket sellers. Further, interest in the game figures to be preserved to the finish because league champs cannot be crowned until the playoffs are completed.

It's illogical but let's assume the American League performs precisely as it did last year when Oakland wound up as the sixth best team. Oakland, nevertheless, would be this year's winner of the western Division title.

Then, if the Athletics came up with three hot pitchers in the playoff series against the East, the A's might win and go into the World Series. If those pitchers stayed hot enough, the AL's sixth best team could become champions of the world.

That, say the critics, is the big bug. But there are others, including loss of some financially rewarding games. The New York Mets, for one, lost a total of six home games against Los Angeles and San Francisco—easily the best box-office attractions at Shea Stadium.

Still, the Mets already have jumped from ninth place in 1968 to no worse than sixth in 1969 so the plan can't be all bad.

Ten-Team Hudson Valley Rookie League Seen Likely

NEWBURGH—The probability of a 10-team, two-division, Hudson Valley American Legion Rookie Baseball League for 1969 increased following Sunday's meeting of league officials here.

A delegation from Poughkeepsie attended the meeting and hinted strongly that it would field a new franchise for 1969. A decision is expected at the Feb. 16 meeting of the nine-team circuit.

There was also an inquiry from a team in the Woodbury-Central Valley area but it was merely exploratory and it appears unlikely an 11th team is in the making.

Fred J. Davi, general manager of the 1968 champion Kingston Braves, headed the large group of league officials and managers attending the session at the Newburgh American Legion building.

If the Poughkeepsie application is accepted, the league would operate in two divisions—North and South—and play a 26-game, conference type schedule.

"We've been looking forward to this kind of setup for some time," said Sal Ciaccio, one of founders of the league for players up to 24 years of age.

Davi echoed Ciaccio's sentiments with the observation that, "I think two divisions would create more interest in the league and I think the fans would like it better!

If the two-division setup materializes, as seems likely, Kingston would be in the Northern section, along with Wappingers Falls Ions, Newburgh Atoms, Beacon Astros and Poughkeepsie.

The Southern section would include Newburgh Nuclears, New Windstor Rockets, Cornwall Missiles, Middletown Explorers and Florida Comets.

General Manager Davi is highly pleased with that breakdown, since it puts Kingston in the same division with the Poughkeepsie team — a long time, natural baseball rival.

Under the conference setup, teams would play each other eight times (four home, four away) within their own division and complete the schedule with a double home and home series with teams in the other section.

The winners of the North and South divisions would meet for the overall league championship.

In other business, league managers voted to stage a big, outdoor fund raising event in addition to the annual all-star game.

The league also accepted the resignation of Umpire-in-Chief Paul Evans. A replacement will be named at the February meeting.

Rod & Gun Report by "Old" Rip

With the close of the hunting season rapidly approaching (Feb. 28) for cottontail, it's almost a tossup whether more hunters would prefer pheasants to the bunny, with the pheasant having a slight edge.

When it comes to days afield, however, the rabbit is the No. 1 small game animal of the state by a wide margin. In spite of this, it is surprising how vague the average hunter is about the facts of life of this prolific little bundle of fur.

Around moontime in March, the mature female gets off to an early start in her efforts to fill brush lots and hedge rows with bunnies for the hunter. The first litter is dropped in about 28 to 30 days in her concealed nest. Before the litter is a day old, she has already made necessary arrangements for the next. This pace will keep up for four, five and, on occasions, even six successive litters.

BRER RABBIT of Uncle Remus fame may have been born in the dear old briar patch, but more often than not the nest site is an open field with little or no heavy cover. We have seen nests built in the middle of lawns right in the city. The nest is dug about 7 inches long, five inches wide and four inches deep and lined with fur she has picked from her undersides and dry grass. When covered the nest is virtually invisible.

Mother Rabbit stays in concealment nearby during the daylight hours, always on the alert to divert any danger threatening the nest. She returns at night to nurse her young.

The new born remain nested for about two weeks and will return for three or four days after leave for daily nursing. Once they are on their own, they may live in an extremely small area. The quality of cover, of course, is a factor which determines the size of the range.

As winter snow blankets the cover that was so important during the summer, there is a shifting to areas of more stable cover.

When the mating moon of March comes over the mountain, where once there were two rabbits last year, 20 to 24 now will be ready to take up residence for next fall's hunters' delight.

THAT 11-POUND, 12 OUNCE brown trout that Stanley J. Sinkevitch of Malden took from a quarry near Cementon won second place in the Genessee Fishing Contest for 1968. It was hooked with garden hackle on April 9.

Another nearby winner was John G. McQuiston of Newburgh, who garnered an 8 pound, 15 ounce largemouth bass at Chadwick Lakes, also good for second place. Most noteworthy was the 28 lb., 12 oz. Northern pike taken by Frank Tangorra of Herkimer from Sacandaga Reservoir. A disabled World War II vet, he fishes from a wheelchair. It does one good to see a person conquer the misfortunes of life and win first prize in the pike division.

SALUTE TO A REAL SPORTSMAN: It took courage on everyone's part, but the recent rescue of that young doe deer from the ice flows of the Hudson at Saugerties proves once agian that hunters are humane.

Personnel of the Saugerties Coast Guard station flagged down the tug Peter Callanan with Captain Joseph Torrisi of Kingston in charge. Disregarding the unsteady ice floes, they lassoed the deer from the tug. The town police, Charles Riley and Herb Hommell, took the animal to the Henry Kramps farm in Veteran where it recuperated from its chilly experience.

The deer was later released without fanfare or expense to anyone. Welcome to the Good Sportsmen's fraternity!

THAT TABLOID PAPER commemorating the 30th anniversary of the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Club should get a four-star rating. From the formation of the club to the present day, it has been one of the finest in the county.

The club's recreation facilities have been impoved over the years and it has a crack pistol team and a trap team. Both rate highly in all competitive meets. Their clubhouse, as usual, built by a few of the faithful, is the envy of all sportsmen. And with a clubhistorian with the integrity and knowledge of Vernon J. Kelder, the Ellenville attorney, the club can go only one way—ahead.

OLD RIP SEZ: We'd like to know what will happen with those Rockland county deer outlaws, who allegedly sold more than 100 deer, when the bailiff announces, "here comes the judge!"

Pezzano Is Speaker For KBA Hall of Fame

Chuck Pezzano, bowling editor and sports columnist of the Paterson, N. J. Call and Record, has accepted an invitation to address the third annual Kingston Bowling Association Hall of Fame installation dinner on Saturday, March 22, at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

A nationally known bowling writer, Pezzano has coauthored two books on bowling and has written more than 200 magazine articles and thousands of columns.

His writings on bowling have earned him 22 national awards. He is a past president of the Bowling Writers Association of America and is a member of the ABC Hal. of Fame Board.

Pezzano's ability in the bowling world is not limited to writing. In his own right, he is one of the top ranking keglers in the East, having averaged better than 200 for the past 20 years. His highest average for a single season was 220.

He has five 300 games to his credit and a sanctioned series of 824. He was the first Intercollegiate champion and has won numerous local and state titles in New Jersey.

Pezzano was a star bowler as a teenager, averaging better than 200 at age 17. At 19 he was rolling on the same team with New Jersey ABC Hall of Famers Lou (Wrong Foot) Campi and Lindy Faragalli.

He was one of the founders of the Professional Bowlers Association of America and now serves as Eastern Regional director of the PBA. He has also served in various capacities in every phase of bowling, including assignments as color man or technical advisor on hundreds of TV bowling shows.

Seven living members will be inducted into the Hall of Fame on March 22, along with four posthumous awards.

Those scheduled to be tapped include George Flemings, William Thiel, Clifton B. Quick, Edward Modjewka, Charles Manfro, Martin M. Kellenberger and Robert Hanley.

The posthumous list includes Larry Petresen Sr., Wilson C. Ingalls, Jack Martin and Eltinge S. Auchmoody. Petersen was named for bowling skills, the remaining three for meritorious service to bowling.

The dinner is open to the public and tickets may be purchased from all members of the KBA's executive committee.

Our Dream House Was a Nightmare!

Until We Changed to OIL HEAT

. . . Say Mr. & Mrs. Alfred H. Schmidt of Pleasant Hill Road, Hopewell Junction, N. Y.

"Originally we planned oil heat for our new home, but when told electric heat would be so reasonable decided to give it a try. "However, we were astonished (to put it mildly) when our electric bill came to $173.47* for February-March, 1968 and $75.91* for the April-May, 1968 period. (We had changed over to oil on May 10th.) Those two bills alone came to almost as much as the $263 a year estimate given us for electric heat!

"Not only that but we couldn't keep the rooms in our home comfortable and the basement — well, we weren't even able to use our nice, new recreation room, it was so cold and damp.

"Now, thank goodness, we have switched over to OIL HEAT and just during those few cooler days we had last May became thoroughly convinced oil heat will surely keep us cozy and comfortable this winter."

* Estimated cost of electricity for lighting, appliances, etc. approximately $15.00 a month.

State Fruit Growers Here, Catherwood for Worker Aid

State Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood urged the New York State Horticultural Society today to support legislation to protect the economic security and safety of New York's agricultural workers.

Addressing the fruit growers at their annual meeting in Kingston State Armory, Catherwood noted that "there has been a lag in making available to agricultural labor the protections long accepted for other labor even in those situations where the protections are adaptable to the needs of the rural workforce."

He said this situation is changing and "is going to change further." In a very broad sense, he continued, groups such as the fruit growers have two alternatives. One possibility is to fight a rear guard action — "to hold off the feared day as long as possible." Another approach is to recognize that in labor legislation applied to agriculture, "the better part of valor may well be to see if some of the traditional protections for urban workforce can't be adapted to the agricultural workforce under conditions which won't force farmers out of business."

If this is to be done, Catherwood said, it requires the participation of different agricultural groups, including the fruit growers.

The Industrial Commissioner noted that workmen's compensation is now required where annual wages paid by an agricultural employer exceed $1,200 per year. "This is not only a protection for the wage earner but also for the employer," he said.

He further noted that in general protection for the migrant labor force, New York has significant legislation which is constantly under review and improvement.

Discussing occupational safety, Catherwood said:

"Agriculture is a high accident industry due in substantial degree to two factors. One is mechanization; the other is the constant movement and change in the work place. There would be fewer accidents in harvesters of one kind and another if they could be in a fixed location where protective guards, comparable with those used in industry, would be feasible.

"It is generally accepted that education and training present one of the major opportunities for the curtailment of occupational accidents on farms.

"There are, however, additional possibilities and at the 1968 session of the Legislature the New York State Labor Department urged and the Legislature and the Governor approved a bill creating a temporary nine-member Advisory Council on Farm Labor Safety to work with the Labor Department to study the problem of accidents and to consider the recommendations which might be made to administrative agencies or to the Legislature."

"In summary, I don't minimize the problems which lie ahead for agriculture in New York State as a reslut of the pressures that exist and will continue to exist for assuring through legislation protections for members of the agricultural workforce — both migrant and non-migrant. I do believe that this area represents one to which farmers and fruit growers in New York will have to give substantially increased attention.

"It seems to me we all have the responsibility, both as individuals and through our organizations, to give the most serious consideration to these problems and to the search for solutions," he concluded.

7 Miners Missing As Fires Break Out

MOUNT MORRIS, Pa. (UPI) —Fire broke out underground in a deep coal mine straddling the Pennsylvania-West Virginia border today, temporarily trapping more than 100 miners behind the flames.

All but six or seven of the trapped men were able to make their way out of the mine

The blaze, of undetermine origin, broke out 430 feet underground in the Mount Morris portal of the Christopher Coal Co.'s Humphrey No. 7 mine shortly before 6 a.m. EST.

At 9 a.m., Elmer C. Workman, West Virginia State mines director, said all but one crew of six or seven men had escaped from the mine to safety.

"There originally was an entire shift caught behind the fire, but we have accounted for all except one crew. We haven't heard from them in three hours," Workman said.

Christopher Coal Co. is a division of the Consolidation Coal Co., operator of the Mannington No. 9 mine at Mannington, W. Va., south of here, where 78 trapped miners were killed by explosions and fire deep underground in November.

Workman said there were "four or five ways" the trapped crew could escape from the Humphrey mine.

"It could be that the remaining men are on their way out by one of those routes, but I emphasize we have not been able to contact them," Workman said.

The fire broke out about one hour before the overnight shift was due to leave the mine.

Plan Meeting Of Teenagers' Mothers Jan. 29

A meeting for mothers of Saugerties junior and senior high girls will be held Wednesday, Jan. 29 at 8 p. m. in the Community room of the Saugerties Savings Bank, Market Street.

The purpose of the meeting, which is sponsored by the YWCA, is to acquaint all mothers of teenage girls, not just Y mothers, with the opportunities which Teen Club activities provide.

It is hoped that a mother's council can be formed to assist with providing leaders and meeting places and to implement planning and programming.

Attending will be Miss Frances Maxwell, executive director of the YWCA; Joan Freeman, teen director; Mrs. Rita Senor, chairman, teen committee; Mrs. Frederick Stegmater, Saugerties Y-Teen club advisor and Mrs. John Amiro, director of decentralized program.

The YWCA is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Californians Digging Out After Those 9 Rainy Days

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Residents of Southern California struggled today with mud-filled homes, washed out highways and bridges, landslides and ruptured water lines—the legacy of nine days of rain.

At least 92 persons were known to have died from the twin subtropical storms which began Jan. 18 and ended Sunday. Eight other persons were missing and presumed dead.

Gov. Ronald Reagan estimated damage statewide at $35 million but authorities in the four Southern California counties most severely affected by the rains estimated a figure of $56.8 million.

More than 1,100 persons were still marooned by floodwaters and impassable roads and helicopter evacuations of the injured and elderly continued in isolated areas.

Looters were reported in some davastated districts. Five persons were booked on suspicion of burglary in a flooded residential section of Cucamonga. Eight others were arrested in Upland for illegally entering a disaster area.

From 50 to 100 volunteers from Watts today were to begin digging out the mud-filled homes in the exclusive residential sections of Mandeville and Coldwater canyons.

As the floodwaters receded, the hulks of wrecked cars appeared in every river and flood control channel. It was feared some of them might contain bodies.

Bloomington Man Is Fined $15 On 3 Charges

Lawrence Machione, 33 of Bloomington, who faced six traffic charges as a result of a high speed chase early Monday pleaded guilty to three of the charges and was fined $15 by Town of Rosendale Justice Raymond Le Fever.

The charges of speeding, reckless driving and failure to produce a registration were dropped. Machione paid fines of $5 each for failure to dim lights, failure to comply and passing a stop sign.

Machione was arrested by Sheriff's Deputies James Freese and Barton Kniffin after a high speed chase through the Town of Rosendale. The deputies gave chase when they observed the Machione vehicle with high beam lights and approaching at a high rate of speed.

Can't Pay Fine, Man Sent to Jail

WALLKILL — Charged with criminal trespass third degree, James Niles, 16, of Bauer Lane, Newburgh, was arrested Monday by Highland State Troopers Jack Ostmark and B. D. Mitchell after investigation of a complaint.

Niles, accused of trespassing on property of the Wallkill High School on Jan. 15, was arraigned before Shawangunk Town Justice M. J. Oscar Smith and pleaded guilty. He was fined $50 and in lieu of payment of the fine Niles was committed to the county jail until the fine is paid.

Deer Causes Car Accident; Woman Injured

HUNTER — A deer standing on the roadway contributed to a traffic accident that resulted in injuries to a woman passenger in the car that went out of control and overturned on Route 23A in this Greene County community at 1:35 a. m. today.

Elaine Sullivan, 23, of Elmhurst, was treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital for shoulder bruises.

She was riding in a car driven by Thomas Dargin, 25, of Elmhurst, who was traveling east on the highway when he spotted a deer standing on the pavement in front of the vehicle. Dargin told Trooper R. J. Stabile that he swerved the car to avoid the deer and the vehicle struck a snowbank and overturned on the south shoulder.

Dargin and two other passengers, Arthur Sullivan and Sheila Hanlon, both of Elmhurst were not injured, troopers said.

Continue Search For 16 Persons In Hotel Rubble

DUNNVILLE, Ont. (UPI) — Firemen and police searched today for as many as 16 persons feared buried in the rubble of the Victoria Hotel which exploded and burned in a fire so "white hot" it may have reduced corpses to powdry ashes.

The remains of four bodies were pulled from the rubble before the hunt was halted at noon Monday while bulldozers pulled down what remained of the back wall of the structure and parts of the once elegantly columned facade

Police Chief George Rowe said the hotel registry was destroyed but it was believed 43 persons could have been in the hotel at the time of the fire.

Five of those escaping down fire ropes were injured and 18 got out safely.

After knocking down three remaining walls because it was feared they would tumble onto rescuers, police and fire units divided the pile of rubble, which rose about four feet above ground, into four sections and began to hunt for bodies.

Objects to Merger

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department has told the Interstate Commerce Commission it would object to a merger of the Union Pacific and Rock Island railroads. But the department said it would not object to the proposed combination if some Rock Island property were sold to other railroads to keep competition alive.

Charge Woman With Fraud in Fund Collection

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz announced Monday night that a British woman residing in New York City has been charged with fraudulent misrepresentation in the solicitation of funds for Biafran relief.

Lefkowitz said his office obtained an order directing Susan Garth to show cause in State Supreme Court Friday why she should not be enjoined from soliciting such funds and preventing her from spending funds already collected.

Papers filed in Supreme Court in New York County allege that Miss Garth collected in excess of $20,000 using the names of the Biafran Relief Services Foundation of New York City, and the Biafra Relief Fund, Inc. of Newark, N. J., without the authorization of the organizations.

The woman, a resident of the Hotel Barclay, has not registered as a professional fund raiser as provided by law, Lefkowitz said.

Dear Abby

Add a Little 'Zip'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with a man wanting his wife to get all dolled up just for his benefit once in a while? I don't mean every night, but maybe once a week she could get her hair done, make-up her face and put on something sexy, enticing and just a bit revealing for her man. I don't expect my wife to put on a 30-minute strip tease, but what's wrong with giving the old man the "come on" when they're alone in private?

She knows I've never been unfaithful. I'm sober, hard working, and I give her unrestricted use of the checkbook. We're both in our mid-thirties, have three nice children, and she doesn't work outside the home. Am I wrong? She thinks I'm crazy. Sign me...

CASEY

DEAR CASEY: Your wife is "crazy" if she doesn't jump at the chance to put a little zip into your marriage. There's no excuse for a wife striking out when her man pitches 'em right over the plate.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I didn't appreciate that letter from ELAINE lambasting people who send annual newsletters to their friends at Christmas time.

As you have probably guessed, I write an annual newsletter, and must say that I, for one, look forward each year to receiving them from old friends we seldom see but who are often in our thoughts.

I would rather get a mimeographed newsletter at Christmas than a card with the sender's name printed at the bottom. May I defend the newsletter set and lambaste the card senders whose cards are about as personal as the "OCCUPANT" throw-aways we are always receiving. My retort would go something like this:

"Dear Friend, Your Christmas card was received so we know you still have our address.

"It must have come out of the $2.50 box at least. Or are you one of those smart shoppers who waits until after Christmas to buy them at half-price?

"Your message was really original. 'Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!' I bet you really had to burn the midnight oil to come up with something so creative. Glad your name was printed on the bottom. Never could remember how to spell your name. And O, yes, one more thing. My memory isn't as good as it used to be. Who are you anyway?"

Sincerely,
MARGY

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Guess what? You saved my life. I am stationed at a base four miles from Cambodia. This morning at 0830 we received incoming 82MM mortar 40-50 to be exact. I was sitting here reading the Stars and Stripes, turned the page and elected to read DEAR ABBY. I got so interested in it I put off Mother Nature for a few minutes.

Lucky for me. It turned out that the latrine was the center of Charlie Cong's vengeance. So because of your article I still here. Thank you!

"STILL HERE"

DEAR STILL: Thanks for writing. You made my day.

Don von Elsner has produced another Jake Winkman bridge mystery. This time the scene is laid at Los Angeles Bridge Week and there is plenty of action with Communist spies who seem to play bridge and get involved with bride players. We don't quite understand the whole plot but the bride hands are interesting as usual.

In today's hand Winkman doubles three no-trump in the East seat. He wins the first spade with the queen and returns the suit. His partner cashes the ace and king and sets up his last spade by leading the deuce. South played ace and one diamond. Winkman took his king and got out with a club and eventually South went down tow tricks.

As Don points out, North probably should not have bid two diamonds in the first place but surely should have pulled the double out to four diamonds, but bridge players do make mistakes.

South corrals Winkman after the game and asks how he came to double with so little. Winkman replies, "I knew there was something wrong with the bidding somewhere. I did want to spade lead but it was a bad double. Furthermore, you should have made your contract for a top instead of going down for a bottom."

Here is the winning line of play. South is in with that fourth spade. He notes that West led the deuce, not the four. He might read that as a sort of suit preference request for a club lead. Then all he would have to do would be to cash his three high clubs before throwing Winkman in with the king of diamonds.

Winkman would be forced to lead a heart. South would let that ride to dummy's jack and dummy's diamonds would all be good.

The upshot of the story was that South decided he wanted to play with Winkman instead of against him.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

MORE THAN ONE: (Q.) I like too many girls. When I'm with one girl, she's the girl I like. When I'm with another girl, she's the girl I like. The girls get together and talk and get mad at me.

How can I stop this? Help in Bangor, Me.

(A.) It's good to like several girls at once. It's not good to get so carried away when you're with one of them that you lead her on and make her think you're serious when you aren't.

If you promise a girl the moon and stars (or even give her the idea you're going to) and you don't really plan to deliver, she has a right to get mad at you.

TEASED: (Q.) My mother and father let me go out on dates. And they don't mind the boys bringing me home from football and basketball games. But they tease me to death afterward.

I hate this, so I tell the boys I can't go out with them. I just can't understand why my parents tease me so much. I'm fed up and embarrassed.—M. in Newport, Wash.

(A.) Your parents are really, in their way, congratulating you on your popularity and success with boys. They think you like their joking way of telling you they're proud of you.

Have a real heart-to-heart talk with them. Not angry talk but quiet, considerable talk. Tell them what you've told me. Tell them you like to talk about the boys you go with but that being teased about them embarrasses you.

When they see that you're more grown-up than they thought, and that you need to be treated more as an adult, I'm sure they'll fall into step. From this point I believe you will be able to go on and talk more seriously with them about the boys you go with and the things you do. You need to talk to them this way and they need to know.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

President, Webb, 'Odyssey'

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon presided over his first news conference as President Monday morning, a televised event that occupied precisely 30 minutes in which he handled a wide assortment of questions fluently and smoothly.

The President chose to present himself in a formal, almost stark situation—standing before a microphone and with two flags behind him

President Warms Up

At the outset, responding to the initial questions about his proposed legislative program and the Vietnam talks, Mr. Nixon seemed on the tense side, his hands behind his back or clasped in front. But as the session went on, he eased up considerably. By the time he was answering a question about his position on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, he was beginning to make gestures as he talked. When he reached crime in the District of Columbia, he even essayed a small joke about a woman columnist.

Jack Webb strung out one of his patented "Dragnet" stories to two hours in length to make an NBC "World Premiere" feature Monday night, and although the program was made a couple of years ago, the final scenes by coincidence looked as if they had been shot on location last wek.

The story basically concerned a manhunt by Sergeant Friday and his partner for a photographer believed to have kidnaped and murdered four pretty young models. Along the way there were opportunities for the colorful character bits and there was one subplot in which the intrepid team solved the murder of a jewelry salesman.

In spite of being four times as long as the series, it was nevertheless standard "Dragnet" most interesting aspect was the climax—the capture of the models' murderer in a torrential rain storm in the Hollywood hills.

ABC skipped its early evening news program Monday night to carry the Bing Crosby golf tournament to a point where it was certain that George Archer was the winner—two hours covering the final play. Originally, the network planned to devote 60 minutes to the windup, a day late because of bad weather.

Dick York Bowing Out

The producers of ABC's "Bewitched," which was renewed for the 1969-70 season several weeks ago, are now busily seeking a replacemnt for Dick York who costarred as the witch's husband in the series during the past five seasons.

York informed Screen Gems, the producer, on Friday that he would not renew his contract which expires at the end of this season.

Recommended tonight: "Artic Odyssey," NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST, report on a three-month expedition to the North Pole filmed a year ago by a member of the map-making expedition; "A Conversation with Eric Hoffer," CBS, 10-11 EST, a second hour in which the longshoreman turned writer and philosopher speaks his mind with Eric Sevareid.

Sharpe Rhinebeck Supervisor

By LYNN MULVANEY

RHINEBECK — Rowland M. Sharpe, retired farmer, was sworn into office as supervisor of Rhinebeck in ceremonies at Town Hall Monday morning.

Although not the choice of the Town GOP Committee which endorsed Councilman William Allen for the post, Sharpe did get a 3-1 mapority of the town board for the appointment over his competitor. Voting for Sharpe were Town Justices George Harrington and Clarence Traver and Councilman Robert Wolfert.

Honored by Action

The new supervisor said he was honored by the board's action, adding, "It's too early" to say whether he would be interested in running in the November election when the post is up for grabs again.

Sharpe fills a vacancy created by the death of Otto Ruge, Dec. 19.

The Town GOP Committee met Jan 7 to consider making a recommendation for a supervisor candidate to the town board. John B. Tieder, chairman, said at that time it was a time-honored duty of the committee to make such a recommendation but that the town board had the option to ignore it and make its own choice.

The committee, considering both Sharpe and Allen, recommended Allen in a Jan 10 letter to the town board.

The town board, meeting at a special session, then appointed Sharpe.

Assumes Duties Feb. 1

The new supervisor, long active in area and county affairs, will assume his new duties Feb. 1 and will conduct the next regular meeting, probably an organizational one, Feb 5.

He was sworn into office by Justice Harrington. Present for the occasion was Justice Traver, who has been serving in the capacity of acting supervisor as well as other town officials.

A former member of the Rhinebeck Board of Education, Sharpe, whose wife, Jeanette is a fourth grade teacher, resides on Rt. 308. They are the parents of two daughters.

A former member and president of the Dutchess County Board of Cooperative Educational Services, he was also former president of the Dutchess County School Boards Association and former president of the Dutchess County Grand Jurors Association. He is a veteran of World War I.

Controversial Topics

Paltz Plant and Road Hold Sway

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

NEW PALTZ — Huguenot Street's sewage treatment plant and the proposed Fulton Road extension remain in the limelight of controversy.

The regular meeting of the village board Monday night drew a capacity crowd of area residents calling for further details of the proposed $1 million sewer treatment plant and an explanation of the extension of Fulton Road.

Freeman Article Topic

At one point, a Kingston Freeman article, outlining the extension of Fulton to Mulberry and Church Streets, became a topic of discussion, and it was at this time that Mayor Henry DuBois announced that Fulton would be, in fact, be extended.

Residents in the Huguenot Street area have been concerned about the sights and smells of the new sewage plant ever since its proposal last year.

It was pointed out that so effective was the opposition to the plant that when the Huguenot Historical Society demanded a revision of the first plan, the National Historic Trust managed to create enough pressure on the federal government to stop funds to the project.

A second, or revised, plan was drawn up by the engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios which had the proposed drying beds of the secondary treatment facility moved further north of the original site and a removal of a plexiglass dome from the so-called greenhouse on the original primary plant.

$10,000 Cost

Estimated cost for this change stands at about $10,000.

Recently, the historical society agreed to the new plans which places the entire cost of the facility at approximately $950,000, with the village sharing about $112,000 of the burden.

Residents of Ulster County's most historic street remain concerned, however, with the area of their anxiousness centering about the visibility of greenhouses to be constructed over the drying beds and the height of the digesters that are part and parcel of any secondary plant.

There is also apprehension about possible odors.

No Odors: DuBois

Mayor DuBois declared that there would be no odors and it was further pointed out that the plant site was chosen because it was the lowest geographical area in the village.

The mayor said that most people were complaining about the time it was taking for the plant to be constructed, but so heated was the controversy that Village Trustee Leland Heinze defended Mayor DuBois, explaining that as a descendant of one of the original New Paltz families he would want only the best for the village.

When the Fulton Road debate flared again, Trustee Heinze went so far as to ask, "Can a few people stand in the way of progress?"

The trustees stressed the need for an outlet for residents in the westerly area of Fulton.

Mayor DuBois declared that truck and bus traffic would be prohibited from using the extension, and Heinze said that the new link to Route 32 was "not meant as a bypass."

Weston Planning Head

In other board action, William Weston was named the new chairman of the Village Planning Board, filling the vacancy left by the resignation of Jesse Bickmore. Harold Onderdonk was also named as a member of the planning organization.

It was announced that the village would purchase a radar set for the village police from the Koontz Equimment Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., for $1,495.

Richard Thompson and Anthony Oneta were named as patrolmen for the police force, each for a six month probationary period.

Seek Volunteers to Share Home With Foreign Students

RED HOOK — Applications are now being accepted from those Red Hook families who would like to share their home for the 1969-70 school year with an American Field Service student from abroad.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Francis E. Smithers of the Home Selection Committee who at present, with her family, is making her home available to Renee Bodt of The Netherlands.

Miss Bodt's presence in the community assures a Red Hook student opportunity to go abroad for the American Abroad Program for the summer months for the 1969-70 school year.

Sixteen local student applications have been received to date, indicating enthusiasm among parents and students for participation, according to Mrs. Smithers.

"While foreign students learn first-hand of the many different aspects of our life — our customs, ideals, interests and problems," Mrs. Smithers said, "they also broaden our horizons by telling of their own countries and daily life in their own homes.

In selecting a home, the committee will look for a warm, friendly, intelligent, understanding family who will open its heart. Students are carefully screened and recommendations and letters are interchanged between families so that they may better know all about the student prior to his arrival. There must be students in the family of those applying but not necessarily the same age. It is preferable for the foreign student to have a room of his or her own.

Application may be made with Mrs. Clement Glowienka or Mrs. Smithers.

Lonstein or Krieger Could Be Foe of Glusker in Ellenville Race

ELLENVILLE — Mayor Eugene Glusker, considered ready to announce another reelection bid, may be facing one of two Republican threats: Albert Lonstein and Rivan Krieger.

The names of Lonstein, an assistant Ulster County District Attorney, and Krieger, former president of the area Chamber of Commerce and present coordinator of the Catskills Resort Association, Inc., have been placed before the Wawarsing Republican organization.

It is known, however, that Lonstein, recovering from a serious illness, and still a county office holder, may not be able to make the run.

Krieger a long-time "gadfly" of the Democratic mayor's administration, was instrnmental in bringing Nationwide Auto Crushers into the area.

Whether Krieger has an edge at this time is not known. A caucus, to be held possibly during the first Saturday in February, will determine who will be the candidate to face Glusker.

The Freeman has also learned that Republican Trustee Edwin Hoar may be facing a reelection threat from another Republican—Robert Woodhouse of Center Street.

According to one source, close to Mayor Glusker, the Democrat "is certain" to make the run.

Rosendale-Tillson Auxiliary Meets

TILLSON — The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company will be held today at the firehall starting at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend this meeting since plans for the spring fair will be discussed.

Fire Destroys Mobile Home

HIGHLAND — Firemen from the local department in command of Chief Joseph Valentino battled flames in near zero weather late Monday night, that completely burned out the interior of a mobile home on Route 9W behind, Patrick's diner.

Members of the family of Joseph Vasquez, occupants of the trailer home, fled to safety after the fire was discovered. Chief Valentino said delayed report to firemen gave time for the blaze to spread through the structure.

"When we arrived," Chief Valentino said," the trailer was completely engulfed in flames." Thirty volunteers were at the scene battling the blaze.

Mrs. Vasquez smelled smoke shortly after 8:30 p.m and the fire erupted moments later. Firemen were at the scene until before 11 p.m. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, Valentino said.

Auto Compaction Unit Is Moving To Marbletown

LYONSVILLE — The auto compaction unit, which has been operating in the Ellenville area is expected to move its base to Marbletown some time this week.

The Nationwide Car Crusher of Dallas, Tex., under the direction of Robert Flanagan is expected to move to the Clayton Barrringer Auto Junkyard, Lyonsville - Kripplebush Road, Marbletown, hopefully by midweek. The car crusher will be employed at the Barringer yard for a week and a half to two weeks compacting junk autos preparatory to closing the junkyard.

Town residents have been advised that they may take advantage of the presence of the compaction unit by taking junk cars to the Barringer junkyard site. Pick up of junk cars may be arranged for a minimum fee.

After presenting some of the beautiful old homes in this area on which we've worked, we thought you might be interested in some of our beauty secrets. The only changes made to the outside of this house since its erection in 1862 were: the removal of a porch which extended across the full width of the front of the house; and the application of Ruberoid Ruco Thatch Siding by Lee Beadle, our siding expert.

It's no secret that advice on proper selection of materials in keeping with the architectural stylings of a period is available at Smith Parish. We also strive for perfection in application . . . caught in this act, our men are working on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. McGinnis, located at 353 Washington Avenue in Kingston. Mrs. McGinnis' parents purchased the residence in 1883. This house and the stone house where DeFeo's Market is located were the only houses then standing on the west side of Washington Avenue.

Ours really isn't much of a secret after all . . . it's a combination of quality materials and good old-fashioned hard work!
